RAILWAYS MAY ACCEPT DECISION

LIKELY TO ABANDON FIGHT IN RATE CASE

It is Believed in New York Companies Will Retrench to Meet Conditions

(Times Leased Wire.)

New York, Feb. 25.—Belief is growing here to-day that the railroads will make no protest against the decision of the interstate commerce commission in refusing to allow advances in rates, and that they will retrench to meet current obligations.

The chief public concern over the situation is whether there will be a reduction of wages to the level prevailing before the recent concessions to employees. In this connection the statement of George F. Baer, president of the Reading railroad, that the working man might suffer from the refusal to allow the rate raise, is causing speculation. Referring to Baer's statement, a prominent labor leader said to-day:

"There will be no reduction in wages now. The eastern and most of the western systems have signed up with the various brotherhoods for a term of years. If the railroads violate their contracts, which is unlikely, we will have the biggest railroad strike in history."

The impression among financial men here is that everything will soon be adjusted; that the roads will carry out their contemplated improvements and that no fight for higher rates will be made.

The executive officers and chief counsel of the railroads in the eastern classification territory will meet here on Monday and determine what action to take on the interstate commerce commission's rate decision.

Discussing the interstate commerce commission's rate decision, Stuyvesant Fish to-day declared that the railroads of the country had reached a point where their operating expenses were no longer out of proportion to their gross revenue. The rate decision, he said, betters the plight of the real owners of railroad shares held for investment by stopping the claims of labor for higher wages and by ending the claims of the shippers for anything approaching a general reduction in rates. He endorsed the commission's decision that the existing railroad rates are just.

Through statements by prominent railroad attorneys it developed here to-day that the principal business of the conference of railroad presidents here on Monday will be to decide whether to test the constitutionality of the Mann-Elkins law. The railroad lawyers believe that the provision empowering the interstate commerce commission to suspend railroad rates is invalid. On this basis the commission's recent decision will be attacked, if at all.

Meeting in Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Executives and attorneys for the western railroads are expected to meet here next week to decide upon their action regarding the interstate commission's decision. All indications are that it will be accepted without fight.

In order to appeal the case the roads must decline to withdraw their tariffs, thus forcing the commission to formally fix the present rates as those to be enforced for two years.

Will Not Appeal.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25. — The Pennsylvania railroad yesterday afternoon notified the interstate commerce commission that it would abide by the decision and would file new schedules by March 10. The Pennsylvania led in the railroad fight for higher rates in the central classification territory.

The interstate commerce commission to-day suspended rate advances vitally affecting the Tap lines and the coal industry in the south and west. Advances on coal shipped from West Virginia to the west and middle west have been postponed until September 5.

New York Market Closes Strong.

New York, Feb. 25.—There was no nervousness at the opening of the stock market to-day. Trading was narrow and the fear of sensational railroad developments had disappeared. Quotations were irregular, but the general tone was strong.

At the opening, Southern railway, Southern Pacific and Reading showed fractional losses. Missouri Pacific was 1-2 higher but soon lost its gain. Canadian Pacific advanced two points during the early trading.

The market closed strong.

Realizing that all danger of a serious slump had passed the big financiers rushed to get their money out of the market. As a result New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Reading and other prominent issues declined nearly a point from yesterday.

J. J. GORMULLY DEAD.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—After a brief illness from pneumonia the death occurred last night of Joseph James Gormully, K. C., one of the best known legal men in Canada and a foremost citizen of the capital. He was born in England in 1845, and leaves one son and two daughters.

U. S. TREATY WITH JAPAN RATIFIED

PASSES THE SENATE WITHOUT ROLL CALL

Western Senators Decide Not to Stand in Way of the New Agreement

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—The new Japanese treaty of trade and navigation was ratified last night after a two hours executive session of the senate. While the apprehension of western senators that the treaty might let down the bars to coolie labor was not entirely removed, these senators contented themselves with expressing their solicitude. They interposed no objections to ratification.

The action in promptly confirming the new agreement is expected to do more to prove the feeling of cordiality that this country has for Japan than anything done for many years. The effect will be to permit Japan to enter at once upon a reorganization of its financial system and the making of new tariffs with all nations.

Japan's treaties with other powers are to expire July 17. That with the United States, by reason of its later ratification, would have continued until the same date a year later had not this government consented to its expiration at the same time as the others.

When the new treaty was received from the president on Tuesday, it immediately became the subject of wrangles. Pacific coast senators feared it might have an effect on the labor situation on the western coast, by reason of the omission of the clause in the treaty of 1894, which it supersedes, recognizing the right of this government to pass an exclusion law. Friends of the treaty explained that the diplomatic notes accompanying it definitely pledged the Japanese government to prevent an influx of undesirable coolies through the rigid scrutiny of all passports. An alien without a passport would of course be liable to deportation.

The California senators, it is said, became satisfied early that the change would not menace the labor situation in their state. Several other western senators became alarmed, however, at what seemed to them unseemly haste in pressing the senate to act. They desired sentiment to crystalize in their states and therefore prevented action for three days.

Supporters of the treaty endeavored to show that the presence of the clause on the subject of immigration in the treaty of 1894 was obnoxious to the dignity and pride of the Japanese Empire, especially as neither it, nor any similar clause, is in any treaty with another country. It was argued further that the existing treaty would have expired in another year and this country could not hope to induce Japan to sign a new treaty containing such a clause.

After a full discussion, the western senators said they would not stand in the way of ratification, which was accomplished without a roll call.

NO MORE RIDING ON FRONT PLATFORMS

B. C. Electric Announces Edict Barring Passengers From That Part of the Car

In supplementation of an advertisement which appears in another part of the Times, A. T. Goward, local manager of the British Columbia Electric Railway, wishes the fact to be made known to the public that on and after March 3 passengers will not be allowed to ride on the front platform of any of the company's cars. This action is being taken in obedience to one of the provisions of the new provincial Railway Act.

It will be observed by cute side-steppers of the law, however, that nothing is said against promenading the rear platform, and in all probability this fascinating portion of the street car will be taxed to capacity in the future. The sum of human freedom is that which is not prohibited by statute; and sailing close to the wind, if the expression may be permitted in such a land-lubbing connection, is always an engrossing pastime.

There can be no doubt that the front platform on the cars was as popular as the observation room on a steamer, and the edict barring it from further trespass will be a keen disappointment to the smokers, whatever advantages it may mean for the much-harrassed motorman and safety to passengers—although, by the way, the latter have never suffered from any act of the man at the switch handle by the long existing measure of liberty.

RECIPROCITY—FROM A SANE POINT OF VIEW.

UNCLE SAM—Tarnation fine gal, that, Johnny; but mighty peart and darned independent.

JOHN BULL—She is that Sammy, my lad. Bound, as she says, to be mistress in her own house. And, after all, can you blame her, Sammy; can you blame her?

UNCLE SAM (wistfully)—No, Johnny, to be honest with ye, I don't believe I kin. And if our fortunes cannot be jined, let us two not forgit that the gal has been instrumental in removing all the misunderstandings that have existed in our minds and killing the prejudices that have rankled in our breasts for more than a century.

THREE PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN FIRES

Woman Returns to Burning House for Valuables and is Overcome by Smoke

(Special to the Times.)

Dauphin, Man., Feb. 25.—The dwelling house of Geo. W. Fulford, ten miles northeast of here, was burned last night, and Mrs. Mary Fulford, aged 76, was burned to death. She was the only person in the house at the time, and was the first to give the alarm. Her son Hirram, who lives nearby, hurried to the scene. The deceased entered the house to secure some valuables and was overcome by the smoke, and perished before she was missed. The charred body was recovered this morning. She came from Port Hope, Ont., and leaves three sons.

Two Perish.

New Glasgow, N. S., Feb. 25.—John McDonald, aged 78 years, and Annie, his sister, aged 76 years, perished last night when their home caught fire at Irish Mountain, near here. The body of John McDonald was recovered but that of his sister is still in the glowing debris of their dwelling.

HOLD-UP MAN DIES FROM HIS WOUNDS

John Ford, Who Killed Seattle Policeman, Passes Away in Hospital

(Times Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 25.—Just before he died on the stroke of midnight last night, John Ford, hold-up man who figured in the desperate battle with the police Thursday night in which he shot and killed Patrolman Davis, and Davis, with his last bullet wounded him fatally, called a nurse to send a message to his mother

"She is Mrs. B. Ford, of 334 Central avenue, Cleveland," he gasped. "Tell her I'm sorry that I turned out bad. But I was out of work and ran across this other hold-up man and he told me we could make some easy money."

Ford is only 22 years of age.

DECLARES ASQUITH MISLED COUNTRY

HON. H. CHAPLIN ON TRADE NEGOTIATIONS

Earl Beauchamp Ridicules the Statement That Agreement is Imperial Disaster

(Special to the Times.)

London, Feb. 25.—Right Hon. Henry Chaplain, speaking at Wimbledon, strongly objected to Ambassador Bryce aiding or facilitating the reciprocity treaty. Premier Asquith had said Ambassador Bryce had had nothing to do with the negotiations, but unfortunately such a statement was in direct conflict with that of Mr. Fielding. It was not the first time Premier Asquith had made statements by which the country and parliament were entirely misled.

Earl Beauchamp, speaking before the City of Bristol club, said that to describe the reciprocity agreement as an imperial disaster, as Mr. Balfour had described it, was not merely an exaggeration but a great misfortune.

Col. Seeley, colonial under-secretary, described Mr. Balfour as coming an imperial cropper. Col. Seeley regarded the agreement as a source of immense strength to the British empire and a further guarantee of peace for the whole world.

Reciprocity Endorsed.

Vancouver, Feb. 25.—The resolution of Messrs. H. A. Stone and J. N. Harvey, condemning the reciprocity arrangement with the United States, was last night defeated by a vote of 10 to 7 at a sparsely attended meeting of the Vancouver board of trade. Some other half dozen members preferred to remain neutral on the question at issue.

That the completion of the arrangement would raise the prices of lumber in British Columbia at least a dollar; that Canadian fruit and farm lands would fetch the same prices as those of the United States; that the terms offered by Mr. Taft's government were better than were expected, and that any Canadian cabinet since confederation would have been glad to get them; that the greater prosperity that will ensue will lead to even greater loyalty to the empire. Such were the main arguments in favor of reciprocity and against the resolution.

TO ENLARGE PLANT.

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 25.—The Oliver Chilled Plough Works Co. of Canada, which has secured a permit to erect a $300,000 building, will, it is announced, spend $600,000 on its local plant

One passenger car and four cars of lumber went over the steep embankment and the wreckage took fire.

EIGHTEEN MINERS KILLED.

Bridge Breaks and Trains Falls 150 Feet to Bottom of Ravine.

Valparaiso, Feb. 25.—A railway train made up of eight cars in one of which were eighty miners, and the others loaded with cement, broke through the Rancagua bridge near the American Braden Copper mines. The bridge crosses a ravine 150 feet deep, and the train fell to the bottom. The miners were all Chileans. Eighteen of them were killed and the remainder injured. The only American hurt is Engineer Albert Bragenton of San Francisco.

RECIPROCITY BILL BEFORE SENATE

NORTH DAKOTA SENATOR ATTACKS MEASURE

Declares Northwestern States Will Suffer If Agreement is Ratified

(Times Leased Wire.)

Washington, Feb. 25.—Taking the stand that the ratification of the Canadian reciprocity measure would do great harm to the northwestern states, Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, this afternoon denounced the proposed treaty in the senate.

"By ratifying that treaty," he said, "you will strike the cereal and stock interests of the northwestern states a staggering blow, but they will arise and return the blow with compounded interest.

"It will not be to the advantage of manufacturers to gain by reciprocity at this time. The adoption of the reciprocity principle will settle the great fundamental policy of the United States. The logical development of that policy will be a swift stroke of retributive justice to the manufacturers now urging the change.

"When this compact passes, every doubt of the propriety of taking up the tariff proposition, schedule by schedule and subject by subject will vanish."

McCumber declared that the protective idea would be crushed to death by outraged farmers. He said the newspaper attacks on Payne, Aldrich and Cannon were responsible for the reciprocity treaty and warned them that protection must stand as a whole or fall as a whole.

McCumber predicted that if the reciprocity agreement was ratified, American exportation to Canada would be increased $15,000,000 annually, but the American importations from Canada would reach $150,000,000.

(Special to the Times.)

Whitemouth, Man., Feb. 25.—Louis Grabke, a farmer, was accidentally shot by a young lad named Snell, with whom he was shooting at marks thrown up to the air to-day. He staggered to the house crying out, "I'm shot," and fell dead at the threshhold.

SEVENTEEN MEN KILLED IN MINE

Bodies of All Victims of Accident in Nevada Have Been Recovered

(Times Leased Wire.)

Tonopah, Nev., Feb. 25.—With the recovery to-day of two more bodies from the Belmont mine, the death list now totals 17. Shortly before noon a rescuing party found the body of Frank Burke, a shift boss, lying at the bottom of the 1,166-foot level, and that of an unidentified Slav in a stoke-hole just above the 1,100-foot level.

Rescuers to-day made a complete search of the mine, but no other victims were found. With the finding of the bodies of Burke and the Slav it is believed all the missing men are accounted for.

A coroner's jury will be called this afternoon to view the remains and an inquest will be held either Sunday or Monday. With the fire out and the smoke and gas rapidly clearing, the officials expect to resume operations on Monday.

PLANS FOR THE NEW UNIVERSITY

HON. DR. YOUNG GIVES HOUSE AN OUTLINE

Grounds and Buildings Are Described—Denies That Party Friends Got Information

Legislative Press Gallery, Feb. 24.

In a most interesting speech this afternoon Hon. Dr. Young, minister of education, gave the House a brief sketch of the plans for the University of British Columbia, which he hopes to see become an institution of learning second to none in the world.

Not the least important portion of the minister's speech was that in which he explained how it is proposed to bring the fienefits of the university to those who are not able to attend its classes.

Dr. Young spoke on the second reading of the bill which gives authority to the lieut.-governor-in-council to grant certain lands at Point Grey as a site for the university. He described the site, its natural advantages and its conveniences. The reason for the reservation of foreshore was for the prevention of any commercial enterprises establishing plants along the waterfront of the university grounds, which it was desired to preserve for the boathouses, etc., in connection with the institution. The site itself comprised 170 acres—one of the most beautiful spots in all of this most beautiful province of British Columbia. The appearance of the university in its majectic setting would fittingly mark it to arrivals by water. Visitors must, too, be duly impressed with the confidence shown by the government in the province's future in thus setting aside so beautiful a site as well as in making so generous an endowment for the university. A sum of $5,000 had also been appropriated for competitive plans for the university buildings. It was not yet exactly decided what form this competition would take, whether it would be open to all, or certain architects well known to specialize in such magnificent undertakings.

Speaking incidentally of the choice of site, Dr. Young said the commission had travelled all over the province, had heard representations of boards of trade and other representatives of the various communities, and had returned with their report to the government. There was at that time very great speculation throughout the chief centres of the province, among the people and in the newspapers as to the site that would be chosen, and one paper, the Victoria Times, had intimated broadly that inside information was being given to those close to the government as to the location that had been or would be chosen. He took the present occasion to publicly deny that there had been at any time any information in this connection given out to any friend of the government, or any opponent of the government or any citizen, prior to the public disclosure of the contents of the final report.

At the time the commission had completed its labors he had been handed by the secretary of the commission what he had been informed was an interim report recommending certain alterative sites. This he had handed back to the commission secretary, at the same time asking him to retain it and asking that the commission might complete its work, complying with the provisions of the act as to the selection of the site, and recommending, if not the exact site, at all events the location or locality. Several months later there had been received from the secretary of the commission its report, which was found to bear date of June 28, the date also of the proferred interim report. When this report was received he had shown it as a matter of course to his chief, the premier, and, as the lieut.-governor was at the time out of the city, it had then been put in the vault, no one being advised of its contents, and when his honor had returned it was at once laid before him, and the contents as soon as possible thereafter given to the public through the medium of the press, a fac simile of the complete report, indeed, being printed in one of the newspapers. There had been no justification for any of the innuendoes in connection with private knowledge of the commission report, and no legitimate reason for the stand taken in this connection by the Daily Times.

In calling for competitive plans for the university, the architect would be instructed to provide for from 20 to 30 buildings in addition to those which would be erected by the various theological institutions. One of the most important of these will be devoted to the liberal arts and science, with provision for schools of music, of art and of commerce. The next would be the agricultural college, with schools of forestry, of domestic science and of veterinary science.

It was not intended to allow the agricultural college to form the nucleus of the university, as was the practice in a number of the states to the south, but to give full attention to this important industry, and provide complete facilities for acquiring the widest and most useful education in all subjects relating to the agricultural industry. In addition to the college there would be the selection of the agricultural farms in different parts of the province. The principal of these, the

FALSE CREEK AND RAILWAYS

NEW AGREEMENT IS MADE BY GOVERNMENT

Attorney-General Shows Heat in Explaining It—Overrides Vancouver City

Legislative Press Gallery, Feb. 24.

For years the House has seen the return of a couple of old friends from the mainland session after session. One of these was a bill to amend the False Creek Foreshore act and the other a bill to amend the Vancouver Incorporation act. Hereafter only the latter will be heard of. The False Creek question appears to be settled.

A bill was introduced this afternoon which seemed, from the applause it evoked, to be of great importance from the Vancouver standpoint. It was one of those which has to originate in committee of the whole on message from his honor. To the surprise of the House the attorney-general, who has it in charge, made the ministerial explanation of the bill upon going into committee on the message, usually only a formal proceeding. At times he spoke with a good deal of heat, and presumably was smarting under what he called "the unjust criticism of a certain class of people in Vancouver."

In May last the city of Vancouver entered into a contract with the V. V. & E. in regard to terminals, and this was endorsed by the people when submitted to them in the form of a bylaw. The provincial government declined to ratify this agreement, and instead entered into an agreement of its own, signed on the ninth of the present month, with the Great Northern Railway officials in respect of the bed and foreshore of False Creek, which had long before been placed in the hands of the city of Vancouver to deal with. The agreement made by the city is disclosed to be good and binding, except where it conflicts with the government's agreement, and there the latter rules. The bill now before the House is to confirm and ratify this, and it contains as a schedule an undertaking, apart from the agreement, by the Great Northern Railway to live up to its part of the contract.

After Mr. Bowser had been speaking for some time H. C. Brewster remarked that the procedure of making a speech then instead of on second reading seemed to be a remarkable one; in fact, the attorney-general was making a stump speech. No one knew what he was talking about but himself, for no one else had had an opportunity to see the bill.

The attorney-general retorted that he was making his explanation to save time and incidentally educate the member for Alberni.

"It does not hurt me," said Mr. Brewster, "but members should have an opportunity to reply."

J. H. Hawthornthwaite also asked if there was not a chance for reply.

Mr. Bowser said there would be a full opportunity on second reading.

The attorney-general declared that he had got written opinions from Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., and G. F. Shepley, K. C., of Toronto, E. V. Bodwell, K. C., Victoria, and H. A. Maclean, K. C., late deputy attorney-general, all of whom agreed with his previous opinion that the city's agreement for the disposal of False Creek was not the plan which had been originally contemplated under the False Creek Foreshore and therefore was one which the lieut.-governor-in-council could not approve of. Later on L. C. Gilman, an eminent Seattle lawyer, and A. H. MacNeill, K. C., Vancouver, the legal advisers of the Great Northern also agreed with him.

The railway then changed its plans and filed an application with the Railway Commission, so that they could expropriate the lands they had formerly been refused and thus get hold of the waterfront. When the railway people went before the Dominion government—he did not know on whose advice but some politician came in—Vancouver got the rights to the bed of False Creek to convey to the V. V. & E. This the Dominion government had no power to do. The provincial government had always taken the stand that the Dominion did not own the bed of False Creek.

In their consciences the railway people felt that they had not done right by the city, and they recognized that they had now to deal with a government which was standing up in the face of a hostile popular vote in the interests of the province and railway development; they felt they must deal with business men and not with politicians who were willing to give away all the rights of the city. The government was protecting Vancouver against the enthusiasm of those who passed the by-law and against its officials.

The company absolutely covenanted to build a half million union station at Park Lane and Prior street within five years. It might be said this was provided for in the original agreement, but he defied anyone to show where, in that document, the company five years. The company had also agreed that any other railway coming in must have free access to the union station, on use proportion upon a car basis. In the matter of freight the original agreement said nothing about freight, but the government said the company must make freight arrangements and every railway must have the right to land freight in the terminal yard on the north side of False Creek, the G. N. R. to handle these cars at switching rate. More than this, where the G. N. R. had laid a siding to warehouses, factories or what not other railways could demand that their cars be laid alongside such buildings at switching rates. If in five years the company did not fill in the whole of the 130 acres of False Creek which the agreement dealt with within five years it agreed to do so on six months' notice from the lieut.-governor-in-council. The government felt that the possession of shops at Everett was not good enough for Canada, and the company was bound to erect a round-house at a cost of at least $25,000 within five years.

The attorney-general concluded a speech which had been marked by much suppressed heat with an eloquent peroration declaring the government to be standing, now as always, for public rights as against private interests. The city's agreement, he said, had no right to be submitted to the people except by way of referendum.

The bill was read a first time, further debate being postponed until the second reading.

THINKING THEMES

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

It should be remembered that the opposite to religion is not irreligion, but non-religion, and the opposite to morality is not immorlity but non-morality. For the outrageous sinner measures himself by the same stick the senior deacon uses. Bad folks and good folks have the same creed. One group is on one side of the fence and the other on the other side, but it is the same fence. The brave soldier and the deserter both acknowledge the same flag.

But the real Enemy hasn't any flag. He is neither a soldier nor a deserter; he is not interested. He is not saint nor sinner; he does not play the game at all.

Mephistopheles was not a sinner; he was free. He could not understand the struggle going on in the breast of Faust; there is no struggle when one is free.

You find tragic wickedness in an age of tremendous faith. The renegade priests who took part in the "black mass," the witches who sold themselves to the devil, and the like, all believed the orthodox creed, believed and defied, as respectable people believed and trembled.

Mr. Churchman, your Opponent is not the vicious, saloon-haunting, brothel-dwelling class. These people are as orthodox as you. Your Opponent is the man Gallio, who "cares for none of these things." It is he that threatens your institution. To him your titles of saint and sinner mean nothing. You need not be alarmed at any rebellion of sinners, but you may well look to your house when you find many who do not know that there is any fight going on.

John Berillo Will Be Held in Kenora Jail Pending Trial

Kenora, Ont., Feb. 25.—The coroner's jury in the Minnitaki murder case brought in a verdict finding that Mytro Pritka came to his death by a blow from an axe in the hands of John Berillo, and that the said John Berillo did wilfully and feloniously kill and murder the said Mytro Pritka at the Minnitaki road house on February 22.

Immediately following the inquest Berillo was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate McLennan, who bound the accused over for trial, which he will await in the Kenora jail.

INSURGENT TO BE TRIED.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—Private dispatches received from Calexifo state that Fernadez Palomares, an insurrecto, who was taken to Calexifo for treatment, has been turned over to the United States authorities to be prosecuted, probably on a charge of inciting an armed expedition against a friendly nation. It was stated he would be brought to Los Angeles at once.

OVER TWO MILLION FACE STARVATION

Plague is Creeping Toward Famine District in China

New York, Feb. 25.—Advices from China to the American Red Cross have been made public at their offices here.

That 2,500,000 Chinese will die for the want of food if assistance is not rendered immediately is the prediction in a statement made by the organization. This number comprises nearly the entire population of the northern part of the provinces Kiang-Su and Anhui. The statement continues:

"The bubonic plague is creeping southward toward the famine district. It has ravaged Manchuria and thousands of refugees who had fled to Chee Foo, in Chang Tung province, have carried it there. Hundreds of deaths occur daily.

"The frozen ground prevents the burial of the dead and long rows of coffins lie on the roadside.

"American Consul - General Alder Wilder, at Shanghai, cabled that people stricken with this plague die in a few hours. The people at last have consented to cremation, and several thousand bodies have been burned.

"The plague is now only 150 miles from the provinces, and if it ever reaches there the result will be appalling."

Aid For Sufferers.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 25.—Last Sunday's collections in the Catholic churches of the state for the relief of the Chinese sufferers exceed $1,000, although a number of churches in eastern Washington did not receive Bishop O'Dea's notice in time to make collections. These churches will act on the notice to-morrow.

A donation of $500 was received Thursday from the Yakima Commercial Club. The Western Union donation included toll services to the amount of $100. Laurence J. Colman and Wadhams & Kerr Bros., notified the local committee yesterday that they would give 50 barrels of flour each.

PREVENTS CLOSING OF SCHOOL.

Medford, Ore., Feb. 25.—To prevent the closing of the school at Prospect over which she presides because of the lack of the necessary five pupils, Mrs. Gertrude Peeler has imported two of her younger sisters. As a result school at Prospect is in daily session, despite the fact that the cold winter drove a number of residents with their families into the valley.

KILLED IN MILL.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 25.—Caught between the carriage and edger at the St. John's planing mill yesterday, W. D. Keezar, 42, an employee, was crushed and instantly killed. He is survived by a widow and four children.

MEN TO LIVE FOR THE COUNTRY.

Sydney Holland, one of the members of the newly-organized Agenda Club of London, England, says there are plenty of people who are willing to die for their country, but the difficulty is to get men who will live for their country. It is the object of the club to secure men to do this. Many men would like to do something to make the country better if they only knew how. The Agenda Club will undertake to show them how they may do it. Among the subjects to be taken up by the club are the prevention of expectoration, the pure milk question, the problem of the segregation of the half-witted, street begging, the organization of the correspondence columns of the press—whatever that may mean—the avoidance of segregation of traffic, and any movement which seems to be for the public weal.

There are no fees and the amount of money a man has does not count. The individual may be an Agenda man if he does the thing that he is asked to do or the thing he offers to do. That the idea is being taken seriously is shown by the fact that among the members are Lord Shaftesbury, Lord Brassey, W. W. Asquith (a brother of the premier); Granville Barker, the playwright; Owen Seamen, editor of Punch; and many well-known business men and journalists.

The idea of the club seems to be an excellent one. There is great scope for it in Great Britain, where there are so many who have little or nothing to do and so many abuses to set right. In a city where the population is almost as large as the population of Canada, the influence of a body of earnest men should work wonders. It will be interesting to watch the work of the club. It held its inaugural dinner recently and is organizing for business. It should be heard from in the near future.

BIBLE TERCENTENARY.

It is just three hundred years since what is known as the Authorized Version of the English Bible was issued in the reign of King James I. This book is the most widely read of all books written in the English language, although there is grave doubt if many people read it all. The custom seems to be to read only specially selected portions. It is because of its religious interest that the Bible is most highly valued, but it is interesting to many, simply because of its effect on the language and literature of the age. Every great writer, almost every popular speaker, and every well-educated man, has studied the Bible. Its language pervades our literature and conversation, and has had a great effect in the unification of expression. Its religious and moral effect is seen everywhere.

The opinion has been often expressed during recent years that the Bible should be carefully edited. There is a revised version, but this has not been edited as many would desire. There are certainly passages in the Bible which, if found in any other publication, would at once insure its suppression. They could be easily expurgated without interfering in any way with the teachings of Christ and without damage to historical accuracy. It seems a pity that this cannot be done, so that the Bible may be placed unreservedly into the hands of children.

Last week the tercentenary of the Bible was duly celebrated in Toronto, and similar celebrations will be held in other countries throughout the year. It seems a very fitting thing that the placing of this book in the hands of the people, by the authority of the King, should be recognized as a great event, for it certainly was that.

SCHOOL CAPS.

In order to encourage loyalty and esprit de corps it has been suggested that each of the large schools shall adopt an official school cap for the use of the pupils. A certain style of cap would be adopted for all the public schools, with slight differences of color or decoration for each individual institution. These would be worn all the time and would encourage lads and lasses to take a pride in their school and in all that pertains thereto. Already school colors have been chosen for use in connection with the athletic games and sports, and the adoption of a cap would be simply an auxiliary to this.

Naturally it would not be possible to make the use of the school cap compulsory as is done in the private schools. This would not be necessary. Once the cap was adopted and placed on sale in the city shops, practically all would purchase them. There may, perhaps, be one or two who would rather not be identified with the public schools, but even these would, we think, come to look upon the school cap as an emblem in which they would take pride. As they would be used in such large numbers they would be just as cheap as are any other variety of head gear which may be worn. We are pleased to pass this suggestion on with our endorsement, for we are thorough believers in the public schools of the country, and anything that can be done to improve them and to help the pupils to take a pride in them we consider worthy of serious consideration. The wearing of a cap does not amount to much, but neither does the flying of a flag. How would it be to use the Union Jack as the school emblem stamped on the front of the cap, each school to have a different color?

Religious questions still continue to stir France. Both government and opposition seem to be pledged to the suppression of religious orders which have been established in that country for centuries.

A group of Chinese caught gambling in Cardiff, South Wales, were recently convicted and deported as undesirables. That seems to be a very effective way to deal with gambling among aliens.

The fact that there is cholera at Honolulu does not much affect us, as there is but one steamer a month coming direct from that port to this. All that will be necessary will be for the quarantine officials to continue to be alert in passing the vessels arriving at this port.

It does not seem long ago that the B. C. Telephone Company installed a large new switchboard in this city. Now a new exchange is necessary. Victoria is growing as she has never grown before. We advise the company to build the new exchange large enough or an addition will be necessary before they move in.

The prospect of having a world's fair at San Francisco in 1915 has made it possible for the United States Senate to ratify a treaty with Japan, dealing with matters of trade and immigration. The Japanese Government is pledged to the United States, as it is to Canada, to prevent coolies leaving for that country. The ratification of the treaty is a step in the right direction.

The revival of the All-Red service between Great Britain and Australia by way of Canada is an important movement. Perhaps this was what Australia was waiting for when she refused to subsidize the line of steamers now on the run. If a twenty-knot service is given by a rival company it will encourage travel to Australia and New Zealand by this route. Business has assumed such proportions that by the time the steamers are ready the travel will be sufficient to keep two lines busy.

The proposal to reconstruct the port of London by building docks on the Thames which will accommodate the largest modern ships has aroused much enthusiasm among the people of the metropolis. The wonder is that they have never thought of doing this before. For a city with a population almost as great as the whole of Canada this should not be a very great financial strain.

Our attention has been drawn to the fact that Denmark is a free trade country. In that country the cost of living is low, and everyone is prosperous and contented. The people are among the best educated in Europe and there is no illiteracy, while extreme poverty is as infrequent as in British Columbia. Ninety per cent. of the people of that country own their holdings, intensive farming being the rule. The farmers are educated by the state and co-operation has attained its most perfect form. Here is an example for us to follow. Free trade in natural products is the first step towards prosperity.

As soon as the terms of the reciprocity agreement were announced by the Dominion government the Conservative opposition unfurled the Union Jack and waved it frantically for days. Then they carefully folded it away while they attacked the government for proposing to spend money in taking part in the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace on the occasion of the coronation of the King. All the other overseas dominions are participating in this festival. This is not the first time we have drawn attention to the curious brand of loyalty of our friends the Conservatives.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL.

Thursday evening, at the K. of P. hall, the annual roll call of Victoria Lodge, No. 7, K. of P., was held. This lodge was instituted August 11, 1883, and its membership and funds have grown to such an extent that it now ranks second on the list in the province. The chair for the roll call was taken by Past Chancellor E. Rickinson, one of the oldest members. The roll was called in rotation as the members joined the order, and was a very interesting ceremony.

Several speeches were made by those present on events that took place in the earlier days of the order. Letters were received from different parts of Canada and the States, where many of the members are now residing. After the calling of the roll refreshments were served and a short programme rendered by Brothers J. Mottram, John Etcher, J. Todd and E. Nathan, and a piano solo by Brother Prior.

On March 3 the officers and members will pay Far West Lodge, No. 1, a fraternal visit, and a large turnout is expected. Brothers Bragg, Mennel and others are to be congratulated on the way they handled the good things and the perfect arrangements for the evening.

The officers installed for the new term are: C. C., J. H. Mausell; Vice-C., W. T. Ferris; P., Frank Couke; M. of E., Andrew Rusta; M. of F., A. B. Oldershaw; K. of R. and S., E. C. Kauffman; M. of A., H. E. Bragg; I. G., D. Climmor; O. G., J. P. Gropp.

SEATTLE INVESTIGATION.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 25.—The grand jury resumed the secret probe of charges of corruption in the police department under the Gill administration to-day. F. W. Lowe, assistant cashier of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was a witness, and was compelled to produce the books showing the deposits of certain clients of the bank, although attorneys for the bank attempted to get a court order restraining the grand jury from inspecting the books.

PERISHES IN BLIZZARD.

Nome, Feb. 25.—Frozen stiff, the body of Lieut. S. B. West, U. S. A., of Fort Davis, was brought here yesterday by Deputy Marshal Davenport. West succumbed while breaking trail for Mrs. Davenport, wife of the deputy marshal, through the worst blizzard on record here.

Mrs. Davenport herself barely escaped death, struggling through the storm to safety, but being unable to save West.

MAKE TEETHING PAINLESS

Teething time is always a time of anxiety to mothers. At this time baby becomes cross, restless and nervous. His gums pain him, he is troubled with constipation or diarrhoea, spasms, colic or convulsions. His little life is in danger unless a medicine is given him to keep his stomach sweet and pure and his bowels regular. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. Nothing can equal them during the teething period. They have lessened the worries of thousands of mothers. Among them is Mrs. W. A. Yeadon, Halifax, N. S., who writes: "I have used no other medicine for baby, but Baby's Own Tablets and I would not be without them. Last summer baby was greatly troubled with the teeth until I gave him the Tablets. They helped him and now he is a big healthy child." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SAN FRANCISCO CELEBRATES VICTORY

Parades and Speeches in Bay City to Mark Triumph in Exposition Fight

(Times Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 25.—With parades, band concerts, receptions and speeches, San Francisco to-day celebrated her victory over New Orleans in securing national endorsement as the site for the Panama exposition.

By proclamation of the mayor, stores were closed for the afternoon and when the great parade started down Market street at 2.30 o'clock San Francisco outdid herself in wild demonstration. Promptly with the starting of the parade, every controller of a steam whistle or siren in the city and harbor was tied down and the resultant roar shook the nearby hills. A large contingent of militia and regular troops figured in the parade. To-night band concerts, confetti throwing and general jollification will keep the city awake until long after midnight.

Exposition Commissioner.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—To settle any dispute that may arise among representatives of foreign nations regarding their exhibits, President Taft has decided to appoint a commission of three to act in conjunction with the director-general of the Panama Pacific international exposition.

"SOCIALIST SUNDAY."

Gatherings Will Be Held in Cities in States To-morrow.

New York, Feb. 25.—To-morrow will be "Socialist Sunday" for the women of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, San Francisco and other large cities who are disciples of the Marxian propoganda. Great Socialist rallies will be held in all important centres of population.

As a preliminary to the observance of "Socialist Sunday" here the women of the party will hold a mass meeting to-night in Carnegie hall, when addresses will be made by Mrs. May Wood Simons, Miss Florence Kelly, John Spargo, Rev. Roland, D. Sawyer and other prominent Socialists.

It is estimated that about 4,000 women in New York are actively engaged in promoting the Socialist cause.

PRINTERS' CONGRESS.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 25.—Following the election of officers and choosing Los Angeles as the next place of meeting, the Pacific Coast Printers' Congress adjourned its session here with a banquet which lasted until early to-day.

The newly-elected officers follow: President, E. R. Morell, Portland; vice-presidents, J. A. Borden, San Francisco; C. V. White, Seattle; W. R. Bindon, Vancouver, B. C.; A. B. Howe, Tacoma; secretary, I. H. Rice, Los Angeles; treasurer, Jos. Anderson, Sacramento.

"SUFFRAGE SUNDAY."

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—"Suffrage Sunday" will be observed in Albany to-morrow by the hosts of feminine would-be voters who have spent the week heckling the state legislature and voicing their demands for the ballot. Rev. Anna Spencer Garland, vice-president of the Ethical Culture society of New York, will occupy the pulpit of the Unitarian church and special addresses will be delivered at other churches. A mass meeting with Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, the English suffragette, as the principal speaker, will be the closing feature of the day.

ESCAPE WITH MONEY.

Two Men Hold Up Postmistress and Coal Company's Cashier, Securing $13,000.

Pittsburg Kas., Feb. 25.—Police officers and Pinkerton detectives are hustling to-day to catch the trail of two men who held up Mrs. S. E. Arnold, postmistress of Fuller village, a suburb, obtaining $13,000 cash intended for to-day's pay-roll of the Sheridan Coal company. Twelve thousand dollars additional, which was in the hands of Bert Briggs, the company's cashier, was saved by Briggs dropping it on the sidewalk.

The robbers confronted Briggs and the postmistress near the railroad depot immediately after the money had been received by a Kansas City Southern train. Both made good their escape before an alarm was given.

A collection wil be taken to defray expenses

—Much interest is being taken in the bioscope lecture on "The Early Christians," to be given on Monday evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church by Rev. Herbert Booth. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock, and only ticket-holders will be admitted from then until 20 minutes to 8. While the tickets have sold well, there are still some to be had at Campbell's drug store and Hicks & Lovick's piano warehouse, opposite the post office.

—In the Supreme court yesterday the action of Tite against Bell was heard, in which the plaintiff claimed payment of a painting bill for work done on the defendant's house at Duncan. The price originally given had been $375 to $400 but defendant claimed he had made an agreement for $375. The work exceeded the original estimate. The court was asked to decide if a contract to do the work for $375 had been made. The matter was referred to the registrar to ascertain the quantities of materials used and work done. The parties have leave to go to arbitration is desired. H. A. Maclean, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff and W. M. Langley for the defendant.

BIDS FOR TWELVE MILES OF PAVING

The Largest Contract for City Work Ever Offered—Half That Outlined for Year

Bids are asked by the city for 400,000 square yards of street construction and asphalt paving, or, in all, nearly twelve miles of roadway. The work is approximately one-half of that which the city will order during this year. It is the largest contract for street paving ever called for by the city officials. Tenders have to be with Purchasing Agent W. W. Northcott, at the city hall, by 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon, March 3.

The streets which will be benefited by the large contract are Burnside road from Douglas street to Washington avenue, Bay street, from Douglas to Bridge street; Douglas street, from Fisguard to Pembroke street; Douglas street, from Pembroke to Hillside avenue; Douglas street, from Humboldt to Superior. Pandora avenue, between Douglas and Vancouver streets.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary society, P. R. J. hospital, will take place on Tuesday next at the Board of Trade rooms, Bastion square, at 3.30 p. m. The hour is changed at the request of the president, who has to attend another hospital meeting at 2 p. m. on the same day.

—Rev. Herbert Gray, D. D., will be the preacher at St. John's to-morrow morning. The subject of the sermon will be "The Greatest Gift." Rev. J. Stanley Ard will resume his special evening course on the "Mysteries of God" in the evening, the subject being the fourth great mystery, "The Sure Knowledge of a Life Beyond."

—Holy Communion will be celebrated in the Pemberton chapel at 8 p. m. to-morrow. In the afternoon the rite of baptism will be performed by the Rev. W. Leslie Clay at 2.30. This is the first baptism to take place in the hospital. Mrs. J. D. Helmcken has kindly consented to give as a solo, "He Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd," and there will be suitable hymns. The regular afternoon service will take place at the usual hour, 3.

NEWS OF SPORT

RACE FOR TROPHY IS IN FULL SWING

First, Second and Southern English League Team Playing Off for Championship

The eyes of the football world are directed towards England, where the race for the most coveted trophy in the pastime is going on.

The third round in the series is being played to-day, the fourth will be played about March 11, the semi-finals March 26 and the finals April 22 at the Crystal Palace, London.

As in the second, the fortunes of the draw in this round have gone against the south of England, for only West Ham United, of the teams left in, have the choice of ground.

West Ham have indeed been favored this season, for like Newcastle United, Middlesborough and Wolverhampton Wanderers, they have come out of the hat first in the three draws. The following are a list of to-day's games:

Bradford City v. Grimsby Town. Referee—S. D. Peers (Liverpool).

Middlesborough or Leicester Fosse v. Blackburn Rovers or Tottenham Hotspur. Referee—F. Heath (Birmingham).

Newcastle United or Northampton v. Hull City. Referee—T. P. Campbell (Blackburn).

Darlington v. Swindon. Referee—F. J. Rowbotham (Notts).

Burnley v. Brighton and Hove Albion or Coventry City. Referee—J. H. Pearson (Crewe).

West Ham United v. Manchester United. Referee—H. S. Bamlett (Gateshead).

Wolverhampton Wanderers v. Chelsea. Referee—G. F. Ross (Aldershot).

That West Ham have a difficult proposition in Manchester United is obvious, for the first league leaders have shown splendid form this year. Still the Hammers are a very strong team, and it has frequently been proved that reputation is not the "last word' in cup ties.

Darlington have done surprisingly well so far, but the odds are against them in to-day's game. Despite being away from home, Swindon's prospects of entering the fourth round are exceedingly bright. They were knocked out in the semi-finals last season by the cup holders.

The result of the game between Derby County and Everton will be watched with a great deal of interest, for although the second league team have choice of ground they have a hard nut to crack in Everton.

Still, the Derby club have recently set up a fine record. Since December 3, when they lost at Leeds by 3-2, they have played eleven matches and won all but two, scoring 25 goals against 9. The two exceptions were when Bolton Wanderers drew at Derby, and when the County lost at Chelsea in the last minute of the game.

EXTRACT FROM "BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL" March 23, 1907.

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of codliver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

The BUTTER SCOTCH which Messrs. Callard & Bowser (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years, is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, so palatable, in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from excess than any persuading to take it. This BUTTER SCOTCH is stated to contain 11.7 per cent. of fat and 78.3 per cent. of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially confirm these figures; further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended, not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases.

NUMEROUS NAMES FOR BALL TEAM

Wattelet Working Hard Sorting Out Suggestions—Season Tickets Going Fast

Manager Wattelet is having a hard time of it these days. He did not know what a contract he entered into when he asked the fair sex to name the ball team. Every day, young and old, seems bound to get that pass and "Wat." may be seen any evening with a towel round his head and a bottle of smelling salts in his hand feverishly checking off the euphonious suggestions.

Some really good names have been sent in and some totally unsuitable ones. One young lady thinks "Arbutus" would be the very thing for the local leaguers to have written on their shirt fronts and she adds as her reason "because they are beauties." Already in her imagination the fair one is forming pictures of golden haired heroes of the diamond pulling down red hot liners from the atmosphere with one hand and with the other wafting kisses to the grand stand.

Other girls, aspiring to the free list, are in favor of calling the team "Bull Dogs" or "Voyageurs," Bull Dogs because Victoria is a little bit of England and Voyageurs because the boys will frequently travel across the sea.

Names with a sting to them seem also to be great favorites. "Bees" has been suggested, and "Hollies." The sponsors for these names are sure that Victoria can take the measure of any of the other nines and not have to work like bees to do it, either. But supposing the reverse happens, that the Voyageurs run on the rocks or the Bees get stung, the merry "Ha! Ha" echoing from the Mainland will be heard from coast to coast.

However, Wattelet is a cheerful worker and does not mind grafting as long as it is a good cause. There is still time for the ladies to send in suggestions. It does not matter whether animal, vegetable, or mineral, the names will receive due consideration.

The fans of masculine sex are a little riled because they cannot get in on this free pass scheme, but they have no kick coming. In no other city are the season tickets so cheap as they are here, and there is still a few left, although they are going fast. For $15 a ticket can be secured for the full series, as well as the post season games.

SERIES WILL BE PLAYED IN FULL

Pigskin Will Not Be Banished Until Summer Time—Schedule Drawn

The soccer football season is by no means through in Victoria yet. Last evening at the Y. M. C. A. a meeting of the delegates from the various teams entering the amateur Island league was held and it was decided to play the series out in full, each team playing home and home games with each of the others and the winners playing off for the championship of the Island. The successful team will then meet the mainland champions and decide the championship of British Columbia. This means that the series will not be finished until well on in May.

A new entry was received, Baraca, who played intermediate in the city league, and one of the expected entries, Ladysmith second division, has apparently dropped out as no word has so far been received from them. The following teams will compete: Duncan, Victoria West, Foresters, North Ward, Corinthians and Baraca. The teams, in order, were represented at the meeting by the following delegates: L. A. Finch, D. S. Tait, A. Campbell, Frank Sweeney, R. Kelsall and L. Warnicker.

The officers elected were: Honorary president, Mayor Morley, who is presenting the cup; president, A. Lockslely; vice-president, D. S. Tait; secretary-treasurer, R. Kelsall.

The entry fee was fixed at $7.50, which must be sent in to-day, and each club must forward a full list of players before next Wednesday. Owing to shortness of time it was decided that each player need not register personally. With these few changes the old amateur Island league constitution will be adhered to strictly.

It was largely owing to the enthusiasm of the Duncan people that it was agreed to play the series out instead of holding elimination matches in Victoria and sending the winners up to play the villagers. Mr. Finch declared the Duncan boys would do anything to get games, as they have had very few this season.

The first games will be played next Saturday, two in Victoria and one in Duncan. The schedule follows:

March 4—Duncan vs. Wards, Wests vs. Baraca, Foresters vs. Corinthians.

March 11—Wards vs. Wests, Baraca vs. Foresters, Corinthians vs. Duncan.

March 18.—Baraca vs. Corinthians, Wards vs. Foresters, Duncan vs. Wests.

March 25—Wards vs. Corinthians, Baraca vs. Duncan, Wests vs. Foresters.

April 1—Duncan vs. Foresters, Corinthians vs. Wests, Wards vs. Baraca.

April 8—Wards vs. Duncan, Baraca vs. Wests, Corinthians vs. Foresters.

April 15—Wests vs. Wards, Foresters vs. Baraca, Duncan vs. Corinthians.

April 22—Corinthians vs. Baraca, Foresters vs. Wards, Wests vs. Duncan.

April 29—Corinthians vs. Wards Duncan vs. Baraca, Foresters vs. Wests.

May 6—Foresters vs. Duncan, Wests vs. Corinthians, Baraca vs. Wards.

Games take place on the grounds of the team first mentioned.

CHAMPION WILL FIGHT.

Champion Jack Jackson, who is at present in California, declared he would fight Sam Langford, victor over Lang in London, anywhere and at any time three months after his terms were met. Regarding the terms he demanded a guarantee of $30 000 as his share of the purse. He also said he would insist upon an American referee if the fight should be held in London. Johnson added that he had not changed his opinion regarding Langford's ability.

ABOUT BASEBALL

Joe Cohn continues to sign players for his Spokane team. He now has fully forty, putting him on an even basis with the big clubs, so far as numbers go.

Frank Chance is the first National league manager to be quoted as claiming the pennant for his team this year.

According to Chance, of the Chicago Cubs, there will be no great shakeup in the ranks of his veterans this season. He seems content to stand pat and go along with the battle-scarred warriors who clung to him through thick and thin and assisted in giving Chicago four National League penants in five thrilling seasons. If young talent is to be injected into the betitled ranks the process will be applied locally to the hurling staff.

Mike Lynch asserts that in the person of Edwin Victor he has a twirler which will set a conflagration going in the Northwestern League for the coming season. Victor compiled a batting average of .365 in one of the fastest semi-professional leagues in Ohio, and they play a pretty nifty brand of ball in those parts, too.

Ham Hyatt went to Kansas City from Pittsburg as part payment for First Baseman Hunter.

THE MARCH OUTING.

The March number of the Outing Magazine is the first sign of the approach of spring. Every owner of a boat should read the motor boat articles, "Getting the Motor Boat Ready," by Sullman Taylor; "Speeding Up the Motor Boat," by Lawrence La Rue, and "By Motor Boat to Mt. McKinley," by Belmore Browne. Each article contains valuable information that he can't afford to miss. Samuel G. Camp writes with authority on "Trout Fishing Problems," and Chas. Askins continues his shotgun articles, with "Practical Wing Shooting." Edward C. Crossman presents some new ideas in "Pleasure with the Pistol." "Horses and Cows at Twinflower," by Mrs. Helen Dodd, is the best story of farm life that we have ever read, and E. P. Powell writes of "The Social Side of Country Life."

In "Saddle and Camp in the Rockies," Dillon Wallace gets into Colorado, and what he has to say on game conditions is both startling and true. Walter Camp writes on "Rugby Football in America." The fiction, as usual, is full of action. "Contrary to Custom," by L. K. Devendorf, goes to show that "bad men don't always die with their boots on"; "The Hanging on Little Elk," by Charles Alden Seltzer, is another good western story. Dr. Woods Hutchinson, in "Occupation and Exercise," explodes the old theory that a man's work is exercise enough, and peaks authoritatively on the necessity of the right kind of recreation. "The Player in the Snow," by Charles Livingston Bull, and illustrated by the author, is an animal story written by an artist who loves his subjects, and who pictures them faithfully.

SPORT NOTES

There is nothing slow about the Duncan fellows. Mr. Finch, when asked last night of the Duncan football team would care to come down here five times, said: "Why, we will come down a dozen times if you want us to. And say," he went on confidentially, "when you come up to play us, bring a basketball team with you. Bring two basketball teams. We can keep them all busy, for don't you know," and his voice sank to a hoarse whisper, "we beat your Y. M. C. A. team once."

Battling Nelson has declared he will return to the ring within two months. He is going into training for a short time and then mix it with some second-rater. If he finds he has the goods he will go after the champion.

The Garrison football players have not made any noise for a long time. They are in mortal fear of being infected with professionalitis and have agreed to have nothing to do with the naughty city footballers. They are playing football just the same. One of the officers has been so kind as to present a cup to be competed for by the different sections. They play six men on a side, on a small field and shoot into hockey goals. The games take place every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

The first world's heavyweight wrestling championship match since Gotch defeated Zbysko last spring will be held at a local theatre in Winnipeg on March 9, when Gotch will wrestle Geo. Eberg, the Swiss champion for the world's title, best two out of three.

Packy McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, and Owen Moran, the visiting British fighter, have agreed to weigh in at 135 pounds at 5 o'clock p. m. on March 14. They will fight at the Fairmont Athletic Club, New York.

Opinions as to Wolgast's ability seem to differ considerably. Ex-Champion Nelson says that Wolgast is a soft thing for any good fighter. "Bat," of course, does not explain how he himself was downed by the present champion. This is what Owen Moran thinks: "Wolgast is a tough lad who is not the greatest fighter in the world, but who can stand the gaff. He will be hard for anybody to beat. I think perhaps myself, McFarland and Freddie Welsh are able to do it. I don't see any others who can trim him."

In an exhibition basketball match played last evening between the Maple Leafs and the West Ends, the former were successful by the decisive score of 22 to 6.

All members of the North Ward Club are asked not to forget the practice and meeting to be held on Sunday morning. At the meeting the captain and vice-captain for the amateur island football team will be chosen.

The James Bay Rugby team is giving a dance next Sunday night in the A. O. U. W. hall in honor of the Vancouver McGill Rugby boys, who are coming over to play the Bays. Tickets for the dance may be secured from the following: A. V. Jeffs, V. K. Gray, S. J. Vincent, Leo. Sweeney, A. Carss, W. L. Kennedy, J. Raymur, and J. P. Sweeney.

That "One Round" Jack Hogan of San Francisco will be the next lightweight champion of the world is predicted by Battling Nelson, who has just returned to Detroit from Chicago. In boosting Hogan, Nelson declared that he not only was strong and aggressive, but could take lots of punishment and had a knockout punch in either mitt. Nelson does not think much of "Knockout" Brown and predicted that Wolgast would whip the New Yorker.

AIR TIGHT PITCHERS AS PENNANT WINNERS

THE Elusive Art of Mathewson, Coombs, Brown and Others in Championship Baseball, and the Secrets of the Failure of the Runner Up

MORDECAI BROWN

GEORGE MULLIN

CHRISTOPHER MATHEWSON

NEW YORK, Saturday.

"GIVE me one airtight pitcher and I will win a pennant," said Clarke Griffith one day last season at the Polo Ground as he squatted on a bat in front of the visitors' bench, watching "Christy" Mathewson beating the Reds.

Perhaps the "old fox" from Cincinnati was too optimistic, but his words had the ring of truth in them. Ask any big league manager what must be the cornerstone of a club that is to win a championship and he will tell you an "airtight" pitcher. Year after year it has been proved that a short series, a world's championship, cannot be won without such a man. That is the reason that men like Mathewson, Coombs, Brown, Adams and Ford are invaluable.

Could the Giants have beaten the Yankees last fall, had they been ever so good, without Mathewson? Could the Athletics have won from the Cubs without Coombs? Could Pittsburg have defeated Detroit in 1909 without "Babe" Adams? Could Chicago have downed Detroit twice in world's series without "Three Fingered" Brown? The questions are merely rhetorical. These things could not have been done.

That is the reason that every manager in the country is continually searching and scouring and hoping that he will turn up a Mathewson or a Coombs or a Ford. The rule in constructing a winning ball club is that first comes the "airtight" pitcher and then the team. Fabulous offers have been made for Mathewson, and yet there has never been any more chance of moving him away from New York than there is of a Swiss navy bombarding and capturing Gibraltar. The reason is obvious. The mathematics of the thing is elementary. It is simply a case of subtraction. Here it is. Fill in the answer yourself:—

Giants minus Mathewson.

Not so loudly, please. You are all correct. No prize will be given.

All successful ball clubs have had their "airtight" pitchers. He is the man on the staff who can be sent into the box and depended upon. He is the man who can go in when some less reliable artist is beginning to wobble toward the end, stop a batting rally and save the game. These pitchers are as scarce as hairs on one of those terriers of the bald breed and they are as temperamental as opera singers.

The "airtight" pitcher is the finished artist. In the big leagues at present there are many almosts, but they all lack one essential, one quality which must be in the man who is to pitch a ball club to a championship. The "airtight" man, for there is no better name for him, must have control, he must have the curve, he must have stamina and, above all, he must have a head. All these qualities combined are as infrequent in one pitcher as pearls in an oyster.

Yet every ball club which has had any marked degree of success in recent campaigns has had such a man to fall back upon. Look at all the trailers, the clubs which have been taking the dust for years, and they are the teams which have had no pitcher who was a topnotcher. The Giants have Mathewson, the most perfect type of the "airtight" artist. The Athletics have Coombs. The Cubs had Brown, a wonderful man in his time, but he seems to have passed now.

Detroit had George Mullen. The Yankees have Ford, who was the sensation of the American League last season, but on account of his slight physique and the strain of his style of delivery on his arm, is unable to pitch oftener that once a week and therefore is not of as much value to a team as some of the others. All these stars in both major leagues can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Reulbach's One Deficiency.

First look at pitchers who are almost "airtight" but who lack some gift which is needed in the pinch. Reulbach, of Chicago, is a good type of a pitcher who has everything in the world in his kit to make a successful toiler in the box except a head. He has the biggest curves of any pitcher in either league, and it is a well known fact that early in the season his balls "break" so wide that he cannot control them. Yet he has good control when he keeps his head. Therefore it would seem that he has all the material accomplishments of a successful pitcher, but he lacks the something which, for want of a better name, might be called baseball sense.

This missing quantity in Reulbach is very pathetic and sometimes his removal from the box when he begins to let go in a game is almost a tragedy. So hard did Reulbach work to overcome this lack of head that he started keeping a book once and marking down every batter's weakness in it as it cropped out and then studying it nights before he was expected to pitch. Say the Cubs were going to play the Pittsburg club the next day, Reulbach would go to his room and get out his book and study the various weaknesses of the Pirates.

"Tommy Leach doesn't like them close up," he would repeat to himself until he had the lines memorized. "Keep them low for Clarke. The Dutchman—give him a base on balls."

This dress rehearsal would sincerely be held on the night before the game, and then it is well known that Reulbach would go out the next day, start well enough, but after a couple of hits had been bunched on him, he would let go, forget all and have to be taken out.

Some amusing stories are told about him when he was writing his book on batters. Once he was pitching against Wagner and, departing from his old rule of passing him, he threw him a ball on the outside of the plate. The German swung and missed it. Reulbach was surprised. He threw the ball down in the box and started for the bench without even asking the pardon of the players or spectators. Chance was put out by the hasty departure of his pitcher.

"Where are you going, there?" he shouted in his husky tones.

"I thought that Dutchman liked them on the outside. He missed that one," yelled back Reulbach over his shoulder. "I'm going to mark it down in my book."

And he did, and the game waited until the author was through and returned to pitch. Reasoning from this, later in the game he gave Wagner another ball on the outside and the fickle hearted, uncertain Dutchman mauled it for three bags, much to the chagrin of Reulbach. It proved to be such a blow to his delicate nervous temperament that the hit started the rally which won the game for the Pirates. Yet Reulbach is like the girl with the curl down the middle of her forehead: when he is right, he is very good. Once, in 1908, he shut Brooklyn out twice in one afternoon.

Marquard, of New York, is another pitcher who is perfect in practice, but who lacks the nerve to stand the gaff in a pinch. His curves are almost phenomenal, and break with a jump that all pitchers try so hard to acquire. While the going is smooth he is all right, but just let Marquard work himself into a hole, and he can hold a grand little aviation meet without a bit of apparatus, making records both for height and distance. The flights of some of the modern aviators do not even tie his ascensions, and it is just because he lacks the nerve.

A little talking, a few bad breaks, some poor decisions, any ripple on the game will upset him, and when he once starts to go, one might as well attempt to dam Niagara with a toothpick as to stop him. They say that it is all on account of his first day in the big leagues that he is so nervous. This long left hander came to New York in September, 1908, when the Giants were fighting tooth and nail for the pennant and the loss of a game might break them. Mathewson was pitching almost every other day, and some of McGraw's other pitchers were run down in health.

A double header was scheduled with Cincinnati one afternoon and the little manager counted on winning the second one by putting in a veteran pitcher. But he had no one to work in the first game, as a crop of double headers in a bunch had exhausted his visible supply of box artists. Marquard had reported the day before, coming from the Indianapolis club of the American Association and bringing from the minors a record which was so bright that the sun had to wear a smoked glass shield to shine on him. McGraw looked him over. He seemed fit. He had been working all season and winning consistently. Bresnahan warmed him up.

"How does he look?" McGraw asked the veteran catcher.

"He's got everything in the world," replied Roger.

Roger was right. Marquard is one of the best warming up pitchers that ever faced a catcher not wearing a mask and chest protector.

"I'm going to take a chance on him," said McGraw, and to Marquard, "Go in and pitch. Take it easy."

The tall left hander went into the box and faced the biggest crowd he had ever looked at. Then he was working under another handicap. The New York club had paid $11,000 for him. Marquard knew it. Every one in the crowd knew it, so fluently had the press agents talked. As soon as he went out on the field every man said to his neighbor:—

"That's the $11,000 beauty."

Marquard's Unlucky Start.

It was as the buzzing of bees, and Marquard heard. With a man on second base, Lobert, who has spoiled many a good pitcher by his monologue when at bat, came up to the plate. Very deliberately he knocked the dirt out of his shoes as if he intended to run several miles and did not care to carry any more weight than necessary. He spat on his hands and tightened his cap on his head. All this business was for Marquard's benefit. The Cincinnati Dutchman is a good actor. In the meantime, Marquard had been worrying himself into a perspiration waiting, and the crowd continued to critically inspect the points of the $11,000 beauty. As Lobert stepped into the box, he said to Marquard:—

"Now we'll see if you are a 'busher.'"

He hit the first ball pitched for three bases. When he had stopped on third he turned to Marquard and commented:—

"You are, and always will be."

There was no stopping Marquard after that. And it has been so ever since. If he gets three balls on a batsman, he lets go almost invariably. And some say that it is all on account of that skit which Lobert staged on Marquard's first day in New York, when the Dutchman batted against him. He has never been able to pitch since. Yet McGraw hangs on to him because the tall left hander has all the material to make a great pitcher and the little manager hopes that some day he will find himself.

Often a word like that from a seasoned batter will ruin a young pitcher just breaking into fast company, especially with the $11,000 idea always before him, as it was before Marquard. He probably reasoned, "So much money for me? I have to make good." And, on the other hand, a word from a veteran catcher, such as Kling, a little spoofing, will often ruin a young batter who lacks confidence.

But to get back to the invincible ranks. Much talk has been made of Greek meeting Greek. This little Grecian bout doesn't amount to anything compared with the resultant argument when "airtight" meets "airtight." One man has to go under. Sometimes it is the unexpected that happens, as when George Mullen fell before "Babe" Adams, then a practically unknown twirler and a man who has since failed to equal the form shown in the 1909 world series.

Mathewson downed Ford in one of the greatest pitching battles of baseball when the Giants won the opening game of the series with the Yankees last fall. Up to the eighth inning, both men were going perfectly, and the score was a tie. Then came the "break" in the game, and Ford lost. Mathewson began the inning with a single, Devore bunted and beat it out. Chase played in close for a sacrifice, was rewarded with one, hurled the ball to Austin to force Mathewson at third, and Austin dropped the throw. Four runs came home during the inning after that.

Coombs beat Brown in the world's series. It was the old story of youth triumphing over age. Twice Coombs met Brown, the hero of two world's series in the past, and twice the younger man won in emphatic style.

This really narrows the field down to two "airtight" pitchers and leaves unanswered a question, to which a reply may be found within another season. If Coombs met Mathewson who would wear the laurel wreath on the way home? Adherents of "Matty" rise up and shout in a beautiful chorus:—

"Mathewson!"

From Philadelphia comes an answering cry, but the name is Coombs. This bit of baseball repartee will probably continue until the two men meet or one of them "cracks." Mathewson beat the Athletics in the world's series back in 1905, but the Philadelphia club has an absolutely new line of goods in its showcase at present, and Coombs was not with Mack's team at that time. It is a recognized fact that Coombs won the series from the Cubs last fall.

It is very doubtful if the Athletics could make enough runs with Mathewson pitching to overcome those that the Giants would pile up against Coombs. It is a noticeable fact that the games in which Coombs works are usually not marked by small scores. For instance, in the late world's series he won his first game, 9 to 3, beating Brown. In his second contest the numerical points of the teams were 12 to 5, and in the last game, when he again was pitted against Brown, he won by the score of 7 to 2.

The Giants last season almost man for man were heavier hitters than the Cubs, and it takes a very good team to make more than two runs off Mathewson when he is right and working hard all the way. He is the nearest approach to the invincible when pitching against players who have not looked at his style before that either league can show.

Coombs vs. Mathewson.

On the other hand, the Athletics are a highly developed baseball machine, and Coombs has not been pitching as long as Mathewson. There have been fewer strains on his arm, and, after all, there are only so many games in the arms of every twirler. It all depends on how he spends his capital—whether he is thrifty or wasteful. Mathewson has been very careful of his arm and is still young in years. If these two men ever get together there should result a clash from which the sparks would fly.

Coombs is the newest of the so-called "airtight" pitchers, and really only became a topnotcher last season. He is a product of Maine. He was born in Kennebunk twenty-seven years ago. He first attracted attention when he was pursuing the elusive sheepskin in Colby College. It was not his creditable chase after learning, but his ability to keep visiting base runners away from the home plate that first drew the limelight to him. To such a fine point did he develop this trait that the opponents of Colby used to bet that they would make a run off Coombs rather than that they would win the game, and they usually lost at that.

From Colby, Coombs touched in the Northern Vermont League lightly and then one of Cornelius Mack's eagle eyed scouts met him. Coombs' next stopping place was Philadelphia, where he has tarried ever since.

Coombs is the typical collegian in major league baseball. Off stage, he is a Maine farmer and a hunter. Each fall, he gathers several members of the team about him and takes them up to his place in Kennebunk, where a month or more is spent in depleting the supply of deer. He has a farm in Maine, and after he is through winning world championships he intends to till the soil regularly.

In the box, Coombs is cool, almost deliberate, before each ball, but is not a slow worker, as is shown by the quick game that he pitches. He is constantly using his head, trying to outguess the batter. He saves his arm, and like all sensible pitchers, as soon as his club assumes a comfortable lead, he slows up. His professional style is a masterpiece, his delivery being of the easy, overhand sort which gives him the maximum efficiency with a minimum effort.

Besides being a wonderful pitcher, he is one of the best hitting twirlers in the game. "Connie" Mack uses him as a pinch hitter on days when he is not appearing in the principal rôle. Many games have been disintegrated by the timely hit from his bat. The strange part about him is that he would rather win a game, in which some one else is pitching by making a long hit in a pinch, than through his own box work. He certainly does like his base hits.

One day last summer, when the mercury was trying to crawl out over the top of the tube of the thermometer, the Athletics were playing the Yankees in New York. It was so hot that the opposing pitchers between innings sat on their respective benches and were fanned. The game was close, and Coombs came up to the bat in the fifth inning with two of his confrères on the bases and one out. It was a glorious opportunity to wreck the match then and there with a single or more. But Mack had given Coombs orders to go to the plate and fan out to save himself for pitching.

The situation presented an apparent paradox. Ford had orders to walk Coombs, with the idea of getting him on the bases and tiring him out. So there resulted the unusual scene of a batter trying to strike out and a pitcher trying to force him to take to the bases. Coombs won the duel, for he struck at balls several feet wide of the plate. But he was chagrined with his victory. He came back to the bench with a protest.

"Connie, that second one was near enough for me to have stepped into it and killed it," he grumbled.

Mack, the silent one, said nothing, but that he knew best was subsequently shown, for Ford was worn down and Coombs won the game. Such are the tricks of the trade.

Coombs constantly thinks of his home. Players on the Athletics say that in the critical game against the Cubs, the last one in the world's series, he kept wondering what his home folks were thinking about him and what their feelings were. He was married last fall to a Texas girl.

Walter Johnson, of the Washington American League club, is a man who would be an "airtight" artist with a winning club, but even though he holds the strike out record he must have some support. That given him by the Washington club is microscopic.

"Big Ed" Walsh, of the Chicago White Sox, is another man who would be a wonder with a winning ball club, but he has no backing. So it would seem that an "airtight" pitcher is an essential to a winning ball club, especially when playing in a short series. Look at the Boston American League club. With one star pitcher that team would come through a-winging.

Perhaps Clarke Griffith was looking at life through rose colored glasses when he said that with an "airtight" pitcher he would win a pennant with the Cincinnati club, but, anyway, his idea was good.

central farm, in connection with the agricultural college laboratory, would naturally be located in close touch with the university and its work. In connection with the work of the agricultural college it was hoped that there might be developed a comprehensive scheme by which a general agricultural training might be made a feature of the high school work throughout the province. There would also be at the university a stock pavilion. There would be a college of mining, in connection with which latter the government was determined that there should be secured one of the foremost faculties identified with the university work.

There would be a college of education and teaching. It was desired to correlate the interests of education through every branch of school and university life. There was no use in establishing a university unless a high and healthy standard was maintained in the schools that fed the university. The university began in the primary grades of public school and the boy only completed his scholastic career when as a man he got his university degree.

He hoped that within a short time there would be a law school formed. In regard to a medical school he took a different stand, as he did not think that for many years to come this province would have such a school. At the present time it was not necessary to have a medical school in the province to educate doctors. The medical schools in the east turned out enough physicians for the west without having a lot of small schools in the western provinces. Then there was the practical objection that there was not clinical opportunities here now, with all respect to the profession, was there a sufficient number of men to fill the professional chairs. He hoped it would be a long time before a school of medicine was established in this province. There would be a college of dentistry and a college of engineering.

A college for the higher education of women would be a part of the university. In the charter of the university it was open to all, but in addition it would have a faculty for women. The trend of experience was against coeducation in university work in the sense of similar training by the same teachers, but not in conjunction in the same class. There would be in connection with the university, too, a technical school, forestry school, lecture classes, correspondence courses

"It is our intention to make the university enter into the lives of the people," said Dr. Young, "and if they cannot come to the university we will take the university to them. We will continue the university course from the primary grade up. We will perfect and carry out what is known as the university extension system, and in places such as Fernie or Rossland we will have schools under the university authorities, manned by professors, to give the men who cannot attend the university the same training as if they had come to the university buildings."

There would be a physics building, a chemistry building, a museum, a gymnasium, a convocation hall, an observatory, electric power-house and all other necessary buildings.

What was a gratifying feature was the earnest co-operation of the different theological colleges, which were unanimous in support of the university. All had signified their intention to affiliate, put up buildings on the university site and help to build up what would be the best university in the Dominion. Two other groups of buildings were in the plan, one for professors' residence and another, and most important, one for dormitories. Said Dr Young:—

"We want to give the students university life in every sense of the word, university residence with all that it means, university comforts and university cheapness. We will give them something they cannot get themselves, segregate them, endue them with the university spirit and make university life so cheap and comfortable that there will be no argument for any man not availing himself of it. We will not have large buildings but something the plan adopted at Princeton and elsewhere of division of the dormitory buildings into small groups under one professor. The old idea that college students are there for fun is giving way in these modern times, and in British Columbia we hope to have the student body living together in comfortable residences.

"We hope to make the university of British Columbia second to none. The mandate of this legislature will occupy our best attention and if the legislature will grant all we ask we will see that all its wishes are carried out. I hope at the university congress next year to interest men from all over the world in our university. We may think we are an outpost here but I assure you, Mr. Speaker, that the educationists of the world are watching every step we take with the utmost interest, and it is for us to make the institution one worthy of its endowment and worthy of B. C."

The second reading was carried unanimously. At the evening sitting the bill was taken up in committee and now stands for its final stages.

J. H. HAMMOND MAY BE U. S. AMBASSADOR

Rumor That He Will Be Selected as Successor to Whitelaw Reid

London, Feb. 25.—A report was current in government circles here this afternoon that John Hays Hammond, bosom friend of President Taft, would soon be appointed American ambassador to Great Britain to succeed Whitelaw Reid. Mr. Reid is now in the United States.

Famous Mining Engineer.

San Francisco, Feb. 25.—"If John Hays Hammond is to succeed Mr. Reid as ambassador to the court of St. James, Mr. Reid would certainly like to know something about it."

This was the answer Whitelaw Reid's private secretary made in talking over the telephone to-day from Millbrae to rumors that Hammond was soon to be appointed ambassador. Ambassador Reid was indisposed and unable personally to answer the rumor.

Hammond was born in San Francisco March 31, 1855. After a course in mining he was employed as consulting engineer for the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific railroads. Later he went to South Africa and won fame as a mining engineer for Barney Barnato and Cecil Rhodes. During the reform period in the Transvaal in 1895 and 1896 he was one of the four leaders and after the Jameson raid was arrested and sentenced to death. The sentence was afterward commuted and he escaped with a fine of $125,000. Since his return to America Hammond has been employed as engineer for the Guggenheims at $800,000 yearly. Hammond is said to be worth $20,000,000.

Will Go to Coronation.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—That Ambassador Reid will return to London was stated positively at the state department here to-day. At the White House it was said that while President Taft had decided to appoint John Hays Hammond as a special ambassador at King George's coronation, there was no present intention that he would succeed Reid.

ELECTION OF SENATORS.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—With the resolution for the direct election of senators practically killed by the adoption of the Sutherland amendment, Senator Borah of Idaho, undismayed, to-day declared that he intends to continue the fight this session and if finally defeated, to resume the battle in the next congress.

Borah thinks that a majority favors the resolution. He said: "As the contest to permit the direct election of senators has continued at intervals for a century, the fact that the first recorded vote in the senate will be taken next week is a sign of progress."

LABOR COUNCIL AND MEXICAN REVOLUTION

San Francisco Body Urges Congress to Recognize the Provisional Government

(Times Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 25. — Denouncing the action of the federal government in hampering Mexican insurgents in their operations along the Mexican border and of assisting Diaz, the San Francisco labor council unanimously adopted resolutions to-day calling upon congress to recognize the provisional government of the insurgents. Copies of the resolutions were forwarded to President Taft, congress and the California legislature. They sharply criticise military and civil authorities for overstepping the bounds of the neutrality laws.

INQUIRY UNDER ANTI-TRUST LAW

United States Machinery Company Will Appeal From Judge Cannon's Order

(Times Leased Wire.)

Quebec, Feb. 25.—Wether the United Shoe Machinery Company is a monopoly in restraint of trade will be determined under the Canadian anti-trust law.

Judge Cannon to-day ordered an inquiry and will name a commission to examine the corporation's officials under oath.

The United Shoe Machinery Company's officials announced that they would appeal against Judge Cannon's decision.

PETITIONS FOR RECALL OF COMMISSIONERS

Fate of Five City Officials of Tacoma to Be Decided at Election

(Times Leased Wire.)

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 25.—The insufficiency of names on the original petition for the recall of Mayor Fawcett will result in a benefit to the city, according to persons taking a leading part in the movement to oust the mayor and the four other commissioners. In throwing out 610 names signed to the Fawcett recall petitions because they were not qualified voters or for other reasons, the petition was found to-day to be ten names short of the required 3,072. Fifteen days more are given the sponsors for the petition to obtain the necessary number of names, and this, they say, will give time to complete the petitions against the other commissioners and thus enable the voters to dispose of the recall of all five city officials at one election instead of requiring the city to stand the expense of two elections.

There appears to be small doubt that a sufficient number of signers will be secured to insure the recall of all the commissioners. Commissioner Ray Freeland has a big lead so far in the unpopularity race, with Commissioner Roys second.

SEALED INDICTMENT.

WOMAN CLUBBED TO DEATH IN CABIN

Murderer Believed to Have Tortured Victim Before Killing Her

(Times Leased Wire.)

Wallace, Idaho, Feb. 25.—Believing that the murderer of Mrs. John Castlebury, 65, who was clubbed to death in her cabin on Marble creek, is still in the vicinity, Sheriff McFarland and half a dozen deputies, assisted by citizens, to-day began a systematic hunt for the man. Mrs. Castlebury was alone in the cabin. Her children were at school while her husband had gone to Clarkia for supplies.

The woman was found dying on the floor by E. P. Martin, a neighbor. Her body was badly bruised and her skull fractured. One leg was broken in two places and it is believed that the murderer deliberately tortured her before killing her. The room showed evidence of a terrific death struggle.

Tracks in the snow indicated that the murderer fled in the direction of Clarkia.

SAANICH LIBERALS.

The annual general meeting of the Saanich Liberal Association will be held at Royal Oak hall on Wednesday at 8 p. m., for the purpose of electing officers and other business.

ADELAIDE OFF RUN.

Owing to her engines giving trouble, the new C. P. R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. Hunter, has been laid off the triangular run to have repairs made. The Adelaide arrived from Vancouver late last night and as her injuries are bad, Capt. J. W. Troupe decided to lay her up for a few days. The Princess Victoria is replacing the Adelaide on the run but the triangular service of the Victoria's has had to be cut out. There will be but one boat a day from the mainland, that being the Princess Royal from the Terminal city at 6 o'clock in the evening. The Puget Sound Navigation Company's steamer Iroquois will arrive from Seattle tomorrow bringing passengers. It is expected that the Adelaide will be ready for service again by Tuesday as the work is to be rushed with all speed.

FACE INDICTMENT.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 25.—Scores of prominent Portland men, including B. S. Joselyn, president of the Portland Railway, Light and Power company, Tom Richardson, former manager of the Commercial club; C. A. Whitemore, G. A. Himes, the historian, and many others are facing indictment at the hands of the county grand jury as a result of the lively mill between Bud Kruger of Oakland and Lee Ward of Portland, at the banquet of the Pacific Coast Printers' congress, held in the Commercial club last night. The grand jury began an investigation of the fight to-day and will call witness Monday to testify what took place at the banquet given the leading employing printers of the Pacific coast and which was attended by a large number of local men who are prominent in the state and city.

Byrne, who is here to-day.

WILL PROSECUTE BEEF TRUST.

Melbourne, Feb. 25.—Trouble loomed up here to-day for American meat shippers when the minister of trade and customs announced that the government was preparing to prosecute the beef trust.

"I am convinced," he said, "that American meat shippers have sinister designs on the Australian market."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

A Germ Disease Which Is Baffling the Doctors and Alarming the People Generally.

It may be said that doctors are only agreed on two points regarding this much dreaded disease.

First, that it is a germ disease, and, second, like all germ diseases can only be fought with pure, rich blood.

Prevention is always the better way and that is why we are always talking about the wisdom of keeping the blood pure and rich and the nerves healthy and strong by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Rich, red blood is a deadly foe to disease germs whether they are germs of infantile paralysis, of colds, of consumption or any other disease.

Don't let the blood get thin and watery. Don't let the nerves get exhausted. The risk is too great. Every dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes to the formation of a certain amount of pure, rich blood. For this reason you are certain to benefit by this treatment.

You need not wait until you have some form of paralysis before testing this great medicine. Be warned by headaches, sleeplessness, irritability, failing memory and power of concentrating the mind. Restore the system while still you have something to build on.

Get new energy and vigor into the system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Fifty cents a box; 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE APPRECIATES DRYDOCK

Stopped Presses to Have Article Upon It Incorporated in Their New Book

The real importance of the announcement that Esquimalt was to have a three million dollar drydock was fully appreciated by the Victoria branch of the Vancouver Island Development League. At the time of the announcement the league was running off a new book detailing the natural advantages of the Island for the benefit of those desiring accurate information with the object of inducing them if possible to come this way.

The Times came out with the first definite announcement of the fact that the dock was not a myth but a reality and as soon as Ernest McGaffey, the secretary, observed it he rushed to the printers and had the presses stopped temporarily while an article upon the drydock and its inevitable effect in bringing other and kindred industries to these parts was prepared.

This article, setting forth the enhanced possibilities of Victoria and Esquimalt from an industrial point of view, will be incorporated in the book of the Development League, and will, therefore, unless other startling developments take place in the interval between now and its publication, bring the league's information up to date.

Mr. McGaffey is confident that the drydock proposition will have a tremendous effect in building up Victoria and the surrounding country. Already he is being flooded with anxious inquiries from the mainland as to the likelihood of its early completion. The Times reporter burst in upon him this forenoon while he was wading through a great bundle of correspondence relative to the possibilities of making good in Vancouver Island. He looks upon them as the endorsement of his own faith in the future, and is satisfied.

THE PASSING SHOW

"The Man on the Box."

That love goes toward love like schoolboys from their books is still as true as ever, not merely in the physical sense of "going" but in the sense of ratiocination. Ordinary workaday love is like a university exam.; you pass and no more, you pass with honors, and you pass with highest honors, and you fail to pass at all. But the soulful, expressive love is something above that. It is a spasm in three jerks, divinity, affinity, and the decree nisi. The spread of what we term culture has brought this latter form of love into the calcium with the result that the young generation of to-day is in danger of being afflicted with ophthalmia through over-exertion of its orbits looking for affinity. It is of no concern at all that the affinity of to-day may be all askew at the end of the week. That is the uncertainty that gives zest to the chase and romance to the onlookers.

Of such a type of high-souled love is that which is unfolded in the comedy-farce, "The Man on the Box," which was presented to a delighted audience in the Victoria theatre last night. The piece is no stranger here; it received the blessing and the welcome of an old and valued friend. The main plot—for like other pretentious plays it is like a delta with so many leading arteries—is a conspiracy between the author and his characters to evolve a good and sufficient reason to justify their existence. Whether they succeed or fail is a question for individual judgment. What is one man's meat is another man's poison.

"One thing is certain and the rest is lies," as Omar says in his dictatory fashion, and that is that the principals in whose hands the various characters were vested performed their several tasks with a conscientious punctilio that would not disgrace a nobler cause. The humor, conscious and unconscious, of the many "situations" with which the piece is well provided, was allowed to suffer no deterioration at their intelligent hands. Gus Arthur played the character of Lieut. Warburton, whose penchant for practical joking places him in the position which finds expression in the title. The nervous characteristics of the alleged groom proved an excellent foil in his hands to the capable work of Miss Jean Ward, in the role of Betty Annesley, the loving, impetuous, passionate Betty. Between them they relieved the threatening ennui with their love encounters, and always resuscitated interest in the argument of the play.

Miss Ward's lithe figure and inviting presence was an attraction by itself. Her acting was sometimes forceful, always graceful, and seldom strained. The other characters, and there was a host of them, made the most of their parts and succeeded admirably. They were all subsidiary, noticeably so, yet were all invested with an individuality that added point and balance to the production of the performance.

CONSERVATIVES MET IN BROAD ST. HALL

Premier Heard and Officers for Association Elected Amid Noise—Ward System

The Victoria Conservative association met last night in Broad street hall, elected officers, resolved on the ward system of organization and made some changes in the constitution. Conservatives present listened to several speakers, and heard the Premier in one of his remarkable liguistic efforts say that Hon. W. R. Ross would announce within two months "there is not an Indian on the Songhees reserve."

The Premier referred to the C. N. R. railroad construction, and the E. & N. Alberni extension, commenced long ago, and then built aerial lines for all the Island, even getting a railroad into Cape Scott. He was cheered to the echo when he said: "If the E. & N. goes to Cape Scott, the Canadian Northern might go too."

Conservatives had to howl down one of their number before they could elect Leonard Tait president of the association again. There was an obstreperous Conservative who persisted in asking the unwilling president to put an amendment to Leonard Tait's nomination.

An argument followed and much howling. Half a dozen men were on their feet to squelch the interruptor, who refused to have things run on the one per cent grade. But a loud voice in another corner, heard over all the din, declared the motion carried, and the crowd turned in time to see H. D. Helmcken resume his seat. So Leonard Tait was elected president again. The vice-presidents elected are: H. F. Bishop, W. Blakemore and R. W. Perry, secretary, W. H. Price; and treasurer, F. Davey, jr.

Among the speakers were Hon. A. E. McPhillips, K. C., C. E. Tisdall, M. P. P. (Vancouver); H. H. Watson, M. P. P. (Vancouver); S. A. Cawley, M. P. P. (Chilliwack); H. G. Parson, M. P. P. (Columbia); M. Manson, M. P. P. (Comox), and J. A. Fraser, M. P. P. (Cariboo).

GAS, INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA GO

Out-of-Order Stomachs Feel Fine Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapepsin.

The question as to how long you are going to continue to suffer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved in five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

SOME COLORED PIONEERS

BY EDGAR FAWCETT.

Here is an interesting little story to early residents of over fifty years ago that may be recalled for their edification. It would be interesting to present residents to know that in 1858 Victoria had a larger colored population than she has to-day, although with now three times the population. This is how it happened, and thereon hangs the tale:

Before the rush to the Fraser river gold diggings and in California there was an act passed through the legislature of that state making it compulsory for all colored men to wear a distinctive badge. This called forth indignation from all the colored residents of California, and resulted in a meeting being held in San Francisco, delegates from all parts coming. At this meeting, after the matter had been fully discussed, it was decided to send a delegation of three, representing the colored residents of California, to Victoria to interview Governor Douglas, to know how they would be received in this colony. The delegation, consisting of Wiffin W. Gibbs, — Moses, a barber, and another, met Governor Douglas and received such encouragement that they returned and reported favorably. The result of this was that 800 colored persons, men, women and children, emigrated to Victoria during 1858 and 1859.

What induced me to write this matter up was the resurrecting of a newspaper cutting, evidently from the Victoria Gazette, for which I am indebted to Mr. Newbury, collector of customs, and which is given verbatum

Patrick Jerome Addison, farmer.

The names will be familiar to many of our old timers, but strange to say, of this list only seven families are represented to-day: That of F. Spotts, farmer; Nathan Pointer, M. W. Gibbs, Wm. Grant, Samuel J. Booth, Paris Carter and Gus Travers.

As they were promised equal rights with the whites by Governor Douglas, they proceeded to claim these rights in various ways, which was resisted by the American residents, who formed a large majority of the residents of Victoria then. It has been told by Mr. Higgins of the colored people who had reserved seats in the dress circle of the theatre, and of the indignation of the Americans who had seats next to them; several colored men went into Joe Lovett's saloon and called for drink. Joe Lovett refused to serve them. The colored men brought the matter before Judge Pemberton, who decided that Lovett was in the wrong, and must serve them, but that he might charge them $2.50 a drink if he wished. An American and his family occupied a pew in Victoria district church, and one not Sunday the sexton showed a colored man into the pew. The American left the church and wrote a very indignant letter to the Gazette of the insult offered to the American people by such a proceeding. This called for a reply from the Rev. Mr. Cridge in defence of his saxon. Also Mr. Gibbs wrote a very caustic letter, in which he handled the gentleman without gloves. This Mr. Gibbs after leaving Victoria rose to a high position in the United States, having been appointed minister to Hayti. He kept a grocery here on lower Yates street in connection with Peter Lester. Many of these colored people returned to the United States after the civil war was ended. The fire department was modelled after the San Francisco department and was composed principally of Americans. On the formation of the hook and ladder company several colored men sent in their names for membership. All were blackballed. As they saw by this that there was a dead set made against them, they then decided to form a volunteer military company. In this they were encouraged by the Hudson's Bay Company, who lent them muskets. This move on the part of the Hudson's Bay Company was supposed to have been made on the promise of the support of the colored military in case they were required to maintain order.

On the installation of Governor Kennedy, later on, this volunteer company stated they were going as a guard of honor. This, I believe, was discouraged by the press, but they put in an appearance with a band of music. In reply to an address, Governor Kennedy advised them to disband, as they were illegally organized, there being no authority for their organization. This was a great disappointment to them, as they had been to the expense of uniforms and band, and drill hall. In addition to which they had been drilling for months, and now all for nothing. But there was nothing for it under these circumstances but to comply, and so the colored military were disbanded. They were succeeded by a company of white volunteers, who wore white blanket uniforms trimmed with blue. They used to drill on Church Hill in the evenings, and were a great attraction. This was the beginning of the volunteer rifle movement, which was eventually merged into the Canadian militia. I was one of the riflemen so merged.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl." —Mrs. Dema Bethune, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

BIBLICAL PROOF.

Number of Letters and Other Inscriptions Unearthed in Samaria.

A discovery of vast importance to Biblical historians is reported from Berlin by the London Daily Telegraph.

It appears that Professor Reisner who has been carrying out the excavations on the site of the Israelitish capital in Samaria has unearthed a hundred clay tables covered with inscriptions which are believed to form a portion of the archives of Kink Ahab, a contemporary of the Prophet Elijah.

These inscriptions, which in quantity alone constitute the most remark- made in Palestine, are not cut into tables, but are written in old Hebraic characters with the intensely black ink found in the Egyptian papyri between one thousand and two thousand years before Christ.

One of them is a letter to Ahab from the King of Samaria, who Dr. Yahuda believes was either Assurbanipal or his son, Salmanesser II. Another table contains a detailed inventory of the furniture in the Royal Palace, but further particulars of the find have not yet become known.

Nevertheless, it is evidently destined to provide convincing confirmation of certain phases of Old Testament history which some of the modern critics have been in the habit of treating as altogether mythical.

—Wm. Stewart, men's and ladies' tailor, over Terry's Drug Store, Douglas St.

The Miller says:—

"SEAL OF ALBERTA is a better flour, because I follow it through every stage. First, I am mighty particular in the selection of the wheat, and that counts a lot. In fact, it is one of the very biggest factors in making a superior quality of flour. There is a big difference in districts, you know, and for Seal of Alberta we select wheat from particular districts.

"Then we are careful about cleaning it. It is screened and scoured and washed. It would be hard to do any more than that, wouldn't it? Then we have searched the world for the finest milling machinery, and we have it here. When the wheat is milled it is tested and aged, and not a sack goes out to you until it is just right. And that is why so many people say Seal of Alberta is a better flour. Those who use it know it is better, because it makes a larger, lighter, whiter loaf of better texture and finer appearance. Those who use it know it is better—I have told you some of the reasons why."

"Sunkist" is not a species or variety of oranges—it is a certain grade or quality, the choicest of each of five thousand California Orange Farmers, who produce 60% of the state's entire crop. They pack all their perfect oranges under the one name, "Sunkist," and ship them by special fast freight.

Every "Sunkist" orange is firm, solid and sound. It is picked by a gloved hand. No orange that falls to the ground or becomes bruised or damaged in any other way, ever bears the "Sunkist" name.

Cheapest You Can Buy

"Sunkist" oranges are not only the finest flavored, freshest and most healthful of all oranges, but they are actually the least costly you can buy. Being seedless, fibreless and thin-skinned, the percentage of waste is extremely small. The tender, luscious pulp comprises 98% of the orange.

So it means economy to buy "Sunkist" oranges.

Buy "Sunkist" by the box. You can obtain a worth-while reduction on a box from your dealer. Because of their excellent condition "Sunkist" oranges keep better than others.

Many Ways to Serve Them

Oranges are the most appetizing and nourishing foods one can serve—at breakfast—in the sick room—between meals—in salads, ices, sherbets and puddings.

There is no limit to the number of excellent dishes of which "Sunkist" oranges form the basis.

Doctors Recommend Them

It is very unusual to find a food that people like and can safely eat as much of as they please. Leading physicians say that to counteract the meat and other heavy foods we eat, one should eat oranges liberally. It is a universally known fact that orange juice is an excellent food for the brain cells and a tonic for run-down nerves. No better laxative than sound, ripe oranges can be found.

There Are "Sunkist" Lemons

The better grade of lemons are now packed in "Sunkist" wrappers. By calling for "Sunkist" lemons, you avoid the kind that are thick-skinned, pithy and insipid. The "Sunkist" lemon contains 50% more juice than any other lemon.

Save Your "Sunkist" Wrappers

By saving your "Sunkist" orange and lemon wrappers you can easily secure a full set of genuine Rogers orange spoons, dessert spoons and fruit knives. The patterns shown are new 1911 styles, designed exclusively for us. They are as attractive and stylish as money can buy. All are Rogers quality, standard A-No. 1 plate and are fully guaranteed by the maker. No advertising appears on any of our premiums.

THREE WHALERS ARRIVED TO-DAY

WHITE, BLACK AND GREEN HERE AFTER LONG TRIP

Ninety-Five Days Out From Christiania—Short of Coal at San Diego

Completing a .... ty-five days' passage from Christiania, Norway, the three new whalers, White, Black and Green, arrived in port this morning to join the Rainbow fleet, which is operated by the Canadian Northern Pacific Fisheries Company of this city. The White and Black both arrived at the William Head quarantine station last night, but the Green did not put in an appearance until this morning and did not tie up at the whaling company's wharf until several hours after her sister ships.

Although built on the 1910 pattern of the Akers Mek. Vaerkstead shipping yards, Christiania, the new whalers look little different from the other five whalers which are registered at this port. Their decks are better arranged than the older boats, the cabin work not extending right across, leaving small passage ways, but provides an open walking space under the navigating bridge. The hulls, however, are constructed practically on the same lines as the Orion and St. Lawrence. They are equipped with two masts at present but the main mast is to be removed shortly in preparation for their whaling cruise.

Looking grimy and dirty through a great deal of their paint being removed by the heavy weather, the whalers entered the harbor. The White was the first to toot her whistle for the opening of the bridge, followed closely by the Black. The Green, however, did not reach the harbor until about three hours after the arrival of the White. During the trip out from Norway, the little craft ran into some pretty stiff weather and were battered about severely in places. Capt. Christoffersen was in command of the White, Capt. Christensen commanded the Black, and Capt. Anderson was in charge of the Green.

As the vessels kept close together throughout the trip, the skippers reported having experienced exactly the same kind of weather. The White had the most trying passage, and at one time considerable anxiety was felt for her safety. At Callao the vessels filled their bunkers with coal but when out to sea they found that it was of the poorest quality and that it was a difficult task to keep steam up to a good working pressure. The result was that the firemen had to use more of it and when some distance from San Diego their supply had run exceedingly low. The Green and Black each put into the Californian port with only three tons of fuel left and were forced to travel at a very low speed in order to economize.

Less fortunate was the White, for she became separated from the others in a heavy gale of wind and only by the narrowest margin averted disaster. Her coal supply was very bad and despite all the coal that could be shovelled into her furnaces the steam would not go up. Her speed was considerably slower than ordinary and in the strong wind and heavy seas she was badly buffetted. The coal supply soon began to dwindle down and her bunkers were nearly empty, when the skipper ordered the boom on the foremast chopped up for firewood. All other wooden fixtures, which fulfilled no great necessity aboard, were fed into the furnaces in an effort to raise the steam and head the vessel for port.

Carrying a tired and fatigued looking crowd of men, the White at last found a haven at Penanda, a port a hundred miles south of San Diego. It was a terrible fight for the crew, the men laboring incessantly for many hours endeavoring to keep their vessel moving. When the other vessels arrived at San Diego and failed to report having seen the White fears were entertained for her safety as the Black and Green arrived with nearly empty bunkers. It was feared that she was drifting about on the Pacific without any fuel, but several days after the other two vessels had reached port word was heard from the White.

Leaving Christiania ninety-five days ago the whalers when crossing the North Sea were caught in a terrible northwesterly gale. As the vessels have little exposed work, everything being kept practically under the deck, the whalers rode through the storm without any damage, although they were tossed about in every conceivable manner. At Dartmouth, Eng., they made their first call for coal, and after replenishing their bunkers set sail for Las Palmas, during which stretch they encountered splendid weather. The winds were favorable and all sails the vessels carried were set, with the result that the coal supply was greatly relieved. From Las Palmas the vessels proceeded to St. Vincent, where they met the C. P. R. steamer Princess Mary, which arrived in port several weeks ago.

The run across the Atlantic to Montevideo was accomplished without any striking incidents, the weather being fine and the vessels were able to use their sails a great deal. The time made by the whalers was equal to that of the Princess Mary, as they arrived at the Argentine city as soon as the new C. P. R. boat. To Puntas Aernas the weather continued fine, but after leaving that port she was beset by winds which almost developed into hurricanes. Rounding into the Straits of Magellan the little craft were warmly received by a westerly gale blowing with great violence. As it was head on the whalers made little headway, although they were extended to the limit, their skippers attempting to force them through it.

It was useless, however, for after driving their vessels for some distance they decided that it would be better to run for shelter and wait for the storm to subside. They entered the refuge harbor of the straits, Borja Bay, where nearly every steamer drops anchor when storm bound passing through. After lying there for two days the journey was again resumed. Entering on to the bosom of the Pacific the whalers rolled about in a southeast gale accompanied by big seas and the masters had to nurse their vessels through it. Right up to Coronel the steamers were buffetted about and on arriving there the crew set to work to put their craft into condition after the stern weather met.

From Coronel to Callao the run was uneventful, but after leaving that port the hardships of the voyage for all craft commenced. Sails were set when the vessels' coal supplies were running short, but owing to the boisterous weather they had to be taken in, the vessels being unable to stand the strain. Leaving San Diego last Sunday on the last leg of the passage the vessels had splendid runs up the coast until nearing Cape Flattery, when they encountered a strong gale of wind, which the sailors termed was rather bad. It was blowing at a great velocity and the angry sea pitched the little vessels about badly.

The new whalers are 96 feet in length, 18 feet in breadth and nine feet in depth, with a gross tonnage of 37 tons. They will go alongside the Victoria Machinery Depot wharf shortly to have the big winches installed forehead and be overhauled in readiness for the whaling season.

THE DEADLY RUSH!

What a raging, tearing, hustling age we live in—motor cars, locomotives, flying machines! Almost from the cradle to the grave, we rush through life at express speed, flying here and there, working like steam engines, and bolting our meals! Of course, we have to pay for this deadly rush, and we pay for it with all kinds of troubles, of which the greatest is indigestion! Your stomach, through the undue tax you put upon it, loses its ability to do its work thoroughly. Then, instead of your food being digested, and turned into blood to repair the waste of your body, it sours in the stomach and creates gases which poison your blood, lower your vitality and create disease. Indigestion is at the root of all such troubles as pains after eating, loss of appetite, furred tongue, headaches, biliousness, sleeplessness, constipation and "nerves."

If you want to cure and prevent such troubles as these, take Mother Seigel's Syrup daily, after meals, and all will be well. The Syrup enables your stomach to do its work properly, and it also gently stimulates the action of the liver and bowels. Thus it aids digestion, makes food nourish you, cleanses your blood, and gives you health and vigour. Mother Seigel's Syrup, the herbal remedy, is made of an unique combination of curative extracts of roots, barks and leaves which have a more beneficial action on the organs of digestion than any other medicine known.

Mr. Robert King, of Maple, Ont., writing on February 18th, 1910, said:—

"A few years back, I suffered very much with chronic Indigestion, so much so that I had to live chiefly on milk and eggs for quite a while. The doctor said my stomach was very bad indeed, although I knew that, long before he told me. I gained absolutely nothing from taking ordinary medicines, and should probably have been ill now, had I not had the curative properties of your Syrup brought to my notice. Mother Seigel's Syrup produced an excellent effect almost immediately, and has completely removed the cause of my ill-health."

If you have any form of stomach or liver disorder, Mother Seigel's Syrup will just as surely and permanently cure you. Put it to the proof—to-day!

BUCKET LADDER DREDGE.

Word has been received in this city announcing that the new bucket ladder dredge for use in Vancouver harbor will arrived here early in March. She left Coronel on January 24 and is by this time well up the coast. While she is able to make ten knots the craft is not being run at full speed. She was built in Scotland for the Dominion government and was launched on November 17, leaving almost immediately afterwards for Vancouver. The new dredger can remove 1,000 tons of free material an hour, and it is expected that before long some of the sand banks in Vancouver harbor will be dredged away.

RED MEN LEAVE ON TOUR OF ANTIPODES

Sail on Zealandia to Give Exhibitions in Australia—Wearing Ancient Costumes

Taking a full passenger list and a large cargo of general freight, loaded at Vancouver, the Canadian-Australian liner Zealandia, Capt. J. D. Phillips, left the outer dock last evening for the Antipodes. Among those who left on the vessel were: T. Horne, Vancouver, of Dodwell & Co., who is on a combined business and pleasure tour of Australia and New Zealand; Commander Nares, of H. M. S. Egeria, and wife bound to Sydney; Mrs. G. C. Mesher and daughter and Miss Lillian Elford, Victoria, bound to Honolulu. Sir William Lyne, K. C. M. G., treasurer of the Australian Commonwealth since 1907, was a passenger booked to Sydney, returning from an extended tour.

Travelling as steerage on the vessel was a party of Canadian Indians who are being taken on a tour for exhibition purposes by a company formed in Australia, capitalized at $25,000, and at the head of which is Lieut.-Col Stacey, who passed through here some time ago en route to the interior to make arrangements with the aborigines to make the trip. There was mild excitement amongst the Indians at Lytton concerning the project. A large number of them were favorably impressed with the idea and agreed to leave on the Zealandia last night.

The picturesquely clad throng of broncho-busters, klootchmen, basket-makers, papooses in native carrying baskets, numbered amongst them a genuine Indian princess from Lillooet, decked out in feathers, beads and skins. They took with them canoe, totem poles, old-time war implements, primitive cooking utensiles, and numerous relics from the days of savagery, though blending modernism in the shape of a brass band. The tour should be a great success as the people in the Antipodes have never seen the Canadian red man garbed in his ancient costumes. The company is under obligation to the Dominion government to return the natives to their home in British Columbia.

OVERDUE VESSELS ARRIVE.

One of the slowest passages to Europe from the North Pacific has been made by the Italian ship Ninfa, whose arrival in the United Kingdom, February 17 has been reported. The Ninfa sailed from the Columbia river August 7 and was 194 days on the passage home. She was on the overdue list and posted for reinsurance by Lloyds at 5 per cent. when she arrived.

Three other vessels recently removed from the overdue list are the British barque Indian Empire, and British ship Celestial Empire, both well known vessels of the Empire line of Cook & Dundas. The Indian Empire was out from Capetown for Adelaide since December 14 and the Celestial Empire was out from Caleta Colosa for the United Kingdom. Both arrived last week, according to reports received yesterday.

When the British barque Inverness-shire was withdrawn from the overdue list recently she was up for reinsurance at 7 per cent. She is now at Santa Rosalia.

Owing to a report of an unknown wreck in the path taken by the British barques Inversnald and Doris, both are on the overdue list. The Inversnald is out from Pisagua since October 1 for Cette and the Doris since October 2 from Iquique for Marseilles.

KOSMOS STEAMSHIP BRINGING NITRATE

Uarda Expected to Reach Port To-morrow—Will Dock at Chemical Works Wharf

Local agents for the Kosmos Steamship Company are expected that the liner Uarda, which left San Francisco on Thursday, will arrived in port tomorrow evening from Hamburg via South Amerian points. Fine weather has been the rule off the coast of late, and no doubt the big steamship will be enable to make a fast run up from the Golden Gate, which generally occupies three days for these vessel.

She is bringing from Chilean points 600 tons of nitrate for the Victoria chemical works, and will discharge this at the company's wharf, inside the entrance to the harbor. She will be one of the largest vessels which has docked there for some time, and it is only through the constant work in the dredge Ajax in clearing away a good approach to the wharf that is permitting the large vessels to land their cargoes there instead of at the outer wharf.

The Uarda is 120 days out from Hamburg, and is in command of Captain Rudolph Petersen, one of the oldest skippers in the service of the company. In the treasure room of the Uarda on her arrival at 'Frisco was $2,000,000 in gold and silver bullion brought from Mexico. The steamship was at the Golden Gate at the time of the fire and rendered great assistance to the shipping.

At 'Frisco the officers of the steamship reported that they experienced considerable rough weather crossing the Atlantic, and had an extremely rough time passing through the Straits of Magellan, but were favored with fine weather coming up the coast. She was badly battered in the straits, a strong westerly wind kicking up a nasty sea which pitched the big vessel about terribly. The Uarda was not forced to seek shelter, heading right into the storm and rounded Cape Pillar out into the Pacific without any damage being done.

THOR IN STRONG GALES.

Heavy weather with big seas, was encountered by Norwegian collier Thor which arrived at San Francisco several day ago from Nanaimo with a full cargo of coal, consigned to the Western Fuel Company. For two days after passing out of the straits she was battered about in a series of south and southeast gales. Great combers swept the vessel and pounded her decks and cabin work with great force, but no damage was done to the vessel.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SAILS.

Laden with nearly 3,000,000 feet of lumber the steamship Queen Alexandra, of the Queen line, which visited this port about three months ago, left Portland, Ore., Thursday for Shanghai and Tsintau. While at the Rose City the liner grounded at the dock at low water, adding another incident to her calender of misfortunes during her stay in North Pacific waters. While discharging heavy machinery at the Powell River Paper and Pulp Company's dock her foremast buckled up under the strain and she had to proceed to Vancouver to have the remainder of her cargo in the forward hatch removed. While in the Terminal City the mate slipped from the gangplank and his head coming in contact with the wharf was instantly killed.

MARINE NOTES

One of the prettiest races ever held on this coast was finished Monday morning when the steam schooners Lizzie Prien and Oakland came steaming through the Golden Gate almost beam to beam, with the Lizzie Prien a scant ship's length to the fore. Ever since the vessels sailed from the Siuslaw river together seven days before, the engineer of each had done his best to shake off the other fellow, but up to the time of the arrival the contest was undecided. As the Lizzie Prien had a minute's start at the beginning of the race, the crew of the Oakland say they will not be content until another and more decisive contest has been held.

Among recent charters announced by the shipping firm of Hind, Rolph & Co., Seattle, are the steamships Belle of Spain and Thyra, and the sailing vessels Bay of Biscay and Klio. The Belle of Spain has been engaged for ten months on time charter from Puget Sound to Peru and Chile. The Thyra has been chartered on time at 3s 3d from Eureka and the North to Australian ports. At 62s 6d the Bay of Biscay has been engaged to convey a cargo of lumber from the Hastings Mill to two ports in the United Kingdom. The Klio has been chartered from Portland to Cork for orders at 27s. 6d.

When the Chicago Maru starts on her return to Yokohama a week from to-day she will have among her cabin passengers Edwin Orrett, local traffic manager for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, who is starting on a trip around the world. After several days in Japan, including a visit at the home offices of the big steamship line at Osaka, Mr. Orret will continue east by way of the trans-Siberian railroad. From the continent he will go to England and take passage at Liverpool for New York, probably on the Lusitania. Mr. Orrett expects to be gone about four months.

The long race across two oceans between the British barque Wendur and the British ship Dalgomar, which started from Puget Sound October 5, ended Wednesday when the former vessel arrived at Plymouth for orders, according to cable advices received yesterday. The two vessels were the first of the grain carriers to sail from Puget Sound during the season of 1910-11, and their movements have been keenly watched particularly because of the fact that they sailed only two hours apart. The record made by the Wendur, 126 days, is not lower than the average time consumed by vessels of her class, and was rather in the nature of a disappointment to her charterers. The Dalgonar daily is expected to report her arrival at Plymouth.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

In the Green Room

The amusement loving public is having its wants catered to admirably just now. At the Victoria the past week there was variety enough to please all and of unquestionable quality. Next week will be equally full of interest, with Kathleen Parlow on Monday, "Polly of the Circus" on Tuesday, an amateur production, "Temple of Fame," on Wednesday, and Josef Hofmann on Thursday.

Manager Trumbull has been sent an excellent show this week by Sullivan & Considine, and the audiences that have thronged the Grand at every performance have testified to the demand for and appreciation of high class vaudeville in Victoria. The success of the week will, doubtless, induce the vaudeville kings of this coast to send us some more road shows.

BILLY BARRON,
In Musical Oddities at the Grand Next Week.

There is not so much difference between races, after all. In Toronto the other night the students had their annual theatre night, but got beyond the usual entr-acte specialties. Even though that fine old English comedian, Edward Terry, was on the stage the young hoodlums interrupted the performance seriously by their behavior. In Paris last night, according to dispatches this morning, the premier of Bernstein's latest play, "Apres Moi," was marked by riotous scenes on the part of the gallery, students and royalist sympathisers having to be overcome by police.

Aphie James (Mrs. Louis James) has gone to Bermuda to recuperate from her recent illness. She will return to New York next month.

"Nobody's Daughter," by George Paston, was produced at the New theatre, New York, February 13, by the New theatre company, by arrangement with Wm. A. Brady. It adds one more to the notable list of successes that Mr. Brady has picked up this year. The play had a great success in London, when first presented.

Charles Rann Kennedy, author of "The Servant in the House," and Edith Wynne Matthison, his wife, who is appearing in the New theatre, New York, have given up their residence in England and have decided to make America their home in the future. They will reside in New York city. Mr. Kennedy has taken out his first naturalization papers.

Sir Charles Wyndham, the celebrated English actor-manager, is in New York to witness a performance of David Belasco's production of "Nobody's Widow," in which his nephew, Bruce McRae, is now appearing in support of Blanche Bates at the Hudson theatre. Sir Charles will give "Nobody's Widow" a London production this spring, he taking the part of the Duke of Moreland, played here by Mr. McRae, and Lady Wyndham (Miss Mary Moore), the role of Roxana, created by Miss Bates.

Wilton Lackaye is trying in the east a new play, "The Stranger," in which he has a part of a shrewd and energetic man of business from New York who descends upon a very hum-drum and opinionated town in Virginia in the interests of an electric railroad that most of the townspeople oppose. It happens also to be the town in which he was born out of wedlock and lived a sordid boyhood. He fights equally for himself and for his railroad, and out of this mingling of sentimental and financial conflict comes the play. Anyhow, Mr. Lackaye can act a plausible man of affairs.

Report has it that Mme. Nazimova will shortly leave her present managers, the Shuberts, and try her fortunes with Charles Frohman. They are said not to have been as fair to her of late as they were in her first days as an English-speaking actress.

The Advance Man

"Polly of the Circus."

It is rather unusual to see graphically represented on the stage of a theatre a real circus, with real horses, ponies, dogs and a trained elephant, and all the paraphernalia of the sawdust ring, and yet that is what will be truly portrayed at the Victoria theatre on Tuesday, February 28.

It is made possible by the ingenuity and cleverness of Frederic Thompson, a young man who a few years ago went down to New York City, and by his dash and dare revolutionized the then prevailing big amusement enterprises in and around the metropolis. He produced the wonders of Luna Park, Coney Island, and the marvels of the huge hippodrome in New York City. He was a sort of theatrical Moses, was this young Lochinvar, who came out of the wilds and invented realistic scenes on a prodigious scale. He had Margaret Mayo write a play on ideas he furnished, and then put them into realism.

"Polly of the Circus" is a very human play with a quaint tenderness about it, and a continuous interest that holds and entertains. Polly is a star rider in the circus that has just come to a staid old town in the Middle West. The circus pitches its tent next to the parsonage. Polly meets with an accident, and is brought into the parson's home unconscious, with the parson, the two protectors of the girl—"Uncle Toby," the clown, and "Big Jim," the boss canvasman—to care for her. Polly stays at the parson's home for eleven months, and during that time she has learned to love and be loved by all the younger folks.

The inevitable of course happens. Polly and the minister fall in love, and to the scandal of the proper parishioners. Polly hears how she is dragging down the clergyman's good name, so she decides to go back to the circus and not reveal her passion. A month after her departure the circus comes back again to the town, and the big tent is packed, all eager to see Polly ride. Polly who has been in their town for nearly a year. And here are the big scenes of the play. The play ends, of course, with Polly and the minister uniting their fortunes, and the circus going away a second time without the star rider.

Mr. Thompson has spared no expense in presenting this play with a capable cast. This is exactly the same production that played one solid year at the Liberty theatre, New York City.

Kathleen Parlow.

The advance sale of seats for the Kathleen Parlow concert, which takes place at the Victoria theatre Monday night, opened yesterday and promises a crowded house.

Miss Parlow's home city gave the talented violinist a warm welcome on Monday night. The council adjourned its sitting to hear her, and presented her with an address. The Women's Canadian Club and other societies gave her a welcome, over 600 persons crowding the Shriners' hall to hear her. The Calgary Herald, referring to the recital, says:

"Time after time the audience almost rose en masse to its feet to demand encores; time after time Miss Parlow had to bow her acknowledgments. There were five distinct recalls after Miss Parlow had ended a series of four classics with the 'Spinning Song,' by Popper-Auer. For all the world one heard the whirring of the wheel; its increasing and decreasing speed, its slow, expiring evolution, and when it finally stopped, there followed that imperceptible pause that betrays the deep absorption of the listeners preceding a perfect thunder of applause.

"Five times it rose to bring Miss Parlow before them, and then fell only to rise again to more intensified volleys. Finally she obliged with that sweet melody of infinite sweetness, a Beethoven 'Minuet.' She has wonderful powers; there is quite a resemblance between her and Miss Marie Hall, the famous English violinist. She has commendable control, her shading being delicate and true, her touch firm, but facile and free. The intensely difficult art of double stopping was fully mastered, as she showed particularly in Hubay's 'Nocturne' and Tor Aulin's 'Humoreske.'"

KATHLEEN PARLOW,
The Eminent Canadian Violinist, Who Gives a Recital at the Victoria Theatre Monday Night.

Josef Hofmann.

Music is Josef Hofmann's hobby, but besides this he has several other which claim a great deal of his time and interest. He is never more happy than when he is busy in his workshop, which he has had built as an addition to his house at Potsdam, inventing or perfecting some mechanical appliance. Of recent years Hofmann interest in mechanics has led him to spend much time trying to improve on the existing types of automobiles.

Among his many successful inventions is a device for automatically indicating the points of interest, which an automobilist usually passes by in total ignorance, by means of a perforated chart which enrolls itself before the chauffeur. Another valuable feature is a bell which rings before the danger points on the itinerary.

Josef Hofmann disappears for hours, when he is not concertizing, and gives himself entirely to this hobby. His mechanical diversions do not, however, interfere with his attention to music, as evinced by his numerous musical compositions and arrangements. In the domain of music, Hofmann to-day stands among the greatest of the world's pianists—not only as a virtuoso, a master of technique and interpretive charm, and an authoritative player from any standpoint, but as a compelling educative force.

Hofmann plays at the Victoria theatre on Thursday evening next under the auspices of the Victoria Musical Society.

New Grand Theatre.

The Grand bill for next week is elaborate with variety, and the headliner is the Three Alex, European sensational equilibrists, who come here for the first time with new athletics. The Alex trio are powerfully built and muscular men who have an exceptional line of work that has gained them profusive press notices in Europe. The act is one that Mr. Considine picked out on his last trip to the continent for his American circuit. The act is to close the show next week.

In distinct variety will be found Johnny LeFevre and Frankie St. John, who are to present a witty and tuneful oddity entitled "The Show Girl." With two such eminent people performing, and both possessing good voices, "The Show Girl" in one act should be a pretty and amusing little entertainer.

Another bright act is "Dooley and the Diamonds," with the accomplished Irish comedian, Eddie Girard, as a policeman in full uniform of distinctive design. Jessie Gardner, a performer with a personality and lots of good looks, is with Girard in "The Show Girl," taking the name part. The tabloid offering is a farce and only a farce, therefore it is to laugh.

Two single acts are billed, the first Billy Barron, whose musical oddities are good and refreshing and whose presence is always recognized as full of merit. Barron has a habit of getting together all new jokes and is some singer; combining the two qualifications his act will be a star single offering.

Tom Dempsey has a mission in life, to banish dull care. He does it all kinds of ways, by dressing, talking, singing and dancing. His is the fifth act of genuine variety and makes perhaps the fourth laugh feature. The grandiscope is billed for new pictures.

The final performance of David Schooler, the boy Paderewski; Bobby Pandur and his brother, the modern Hercules; Charles A. Murray and Miss [illegible] Hamilton, in "Jerry the Janitor"; John Hamilton, the finger tip artist; and Joe Whitehead and Flo Grierson, the comics, are billed for to-night. The road show has been an unprecedented success here.

WOMEN AND TERRITORIALS.

Mr. Haldane, distributing prizes to the Hants Royal Garrison Artillery at Southampton, said that if women interested themselves and held it a matter of high honor for men to serve their country there would be little doubt that the best of the young men would soon be forthcoming to make up the shortage in the corps.

Mr. Haldane said this country had the finest and largest over-seas force the world had ever seen. There was nothing comparable to the British army over-seas in any other country.

FOX HUNT ON SKIS.

Four young Englishmen recently took part at Wengen (Bernese Oberland) in a curious fox hunt on skis. By chance, when ski-ing on the Wengen Alp, they caught sight of a fox.

They chased it for fifteen minutes, and the creature not being able to run as quickly in the deep snow as the ski-ers, they overtook it. The fox tried to escape by doubling, but one of the ski-ers tripped and fell on the animal and so ended the chase. The skin has been sent to London to be dressed.

Baby Nearly Died with Itching Rash

Mrs. M. C. Maitland, of Jasper, Ont., tells in the following letter of her child's remarkable cure by the Cuticura Remedies:

"When my boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws.

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long while. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment and pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago and there has been no return of the trouble."

(Signed) Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ont.

No more convincing proof of the efficacy and economy of the Cuticura Remedies could be given. As in this instance, a single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A. Send for free Cuticura Booklet on skin and scalp diseases.

Here Are Four People Who Testify

THAT GIN PILLS POSITIVELY CURE RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is a dreadful disease. Only those, who have had it, can appreciate the agonizing pain—the excruciating torture—that racks the body when Rheumatism sets in. No wonder those, who have been cured of Rheumatism by GIN PILLS, are so grateful and so enthusiastic.

They gladly testify that GIN PILLS cured them and want all the world to try GIN PILLS.

Many Kinds of Medicine

Alex. Moore, Esq., is one of many hundreds who know that GIN PILLS will cure Rheumatism. He writes from Newburgh, Ont.

"My father had been troubled with Rheumatism for a number of years. He tried two doctors but got no relief, when my uncle insisted on him trying GIN PILLS. He purchased a box and after taking GIN PILLS for a week, found that they were giving him much relief. He then bought three more boxes, which were the means of curing him. He is now a strong man—in good health—and able to attend to his daily work—and all the credit is due to GIN PILLS."

His Father Was Troubled

They know about GIN PILLS down in Nova Scotia too. In fact, GIN PILLS are the old standby all over the Maritime Provinces because GIN PILLS really cure Rheumatism. An old gentleman in Yarmouth, N. S., says:

"I have been bothered with Rheumatism for the past year and have taken a good many kinds of medicine, but found no relief. One day, a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS and after taking a few boxes, I felt like a new man. I want you to know how thankful I am for the relief they gave me and would advise all sufferers to take GIN PILLS."

In New Brunswick, GIN PILLS have cured hundreds of men and women of Rheumatism. Mr. Wilson of Hartfield, N. B., is one of the many who owes his good health and strength to GIN PILLS. He writes: "It affords me great pleasure to convey not only to you, but to all sufferers from Back Ache and Rheumatism the great relief I have obtained from the use of GIN PILLS I am sounding the praises of GIN PILLS to everyone suffering as I did." Robert M. Wilson.

Could Not Work

Back to Nova Scotia for the fourth letter from D. J. Lawler of Ogden.

"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and told me to go to the hospital but all to no good until a cousin told me to try GIN PILLS. I did so, and after taking a few boxes, I am perfectly well."

Sounding the Praises

These written words and signed statements from well known people are the best possible guarantee of the value of GIN PILLS. They prove that GIN PILLS will give prompt relief—and will completely cure—every trace of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back, Kidney Trouble or any weakness of the kidneys or bladder. You may try GIN PILLS before you buy them. Write us for free sample box. Thomas A. Edison did another wonderful thing when, having brought his Phonograph to a point where not even the most critical could ask for improvement, he multiplied its entertaining ability by two.

He did this by producing a Phonograph Record that plays, sings or talks twice as long as the Standard Edison Records.

He did this without increasing the size of the Record, making it a Record that can be used on old instruments as well as new.

He did it without affecting in any way the clear, rich, musical tones for which Edison Records have always been famous.

He calls this double-length Record "Amberol."

VICTORIA'S RIGHT IS VOTED AWAY

LAST EFFORT TO SAVE FIRE INSURANCE TAX

Vote of 17 to 3 Against H. C. Brewster's Amendment—Progress on Measures

Legislative Press Gallery, Feb. 24.

By a vote of 17 to 3 the House this evening decided that the government's action in depriving the municipalities of the righ—enjoyed by Victoria for 40 years—of taxing fire insurance companies after this year was proper.

H. C. Brewster, when the fire insurance bill came up on report, moved to strike out the section which forbade municipal taxation of fire companies. He pointed out that the government's policy took away the right of municipalities to levy any tax or license on fire insurance companies duing business within the municipality, and he protested strongly against this being done. The attorney-general had stated that it was the intention to create a department of insurance, and the two per cent. tax which the government was to levy was to establish this. But he had not made it clear why the municipalities should be shorn of a large amount of taxation, between $13,000 and $15,000 in the case of Victoria. The section went a little further, and the policy of the government in the past not to interfere with vested interests was again being violated. For forty years this city had been collecting a tax on fire insurance companies, which figured in its estimate of revenue. In moving this amendment he desired to get the opinion of the House on this matter and to emphasize his own opinion that the government should in some way remunerate the municipalities for the revenue taken away. The action of the government would show a greater provincial revenue, but the ratepayers of the municipalities would have to pay more taxes, and in Victoria this would mean a considerable matter. It was neither wise nor fair to deprive them of this tax. The attorney-general had said that lower rates of insurance would result, but it had been stated in the municipal committtee that the companies intended to increase rates. In this city there had been reductions promised, but these had never eventuated.

The attorney-general said he could not accept the amendment. The work of the proposed insurance department would cost money, and it was to meet this that the two per cent. tax was imposed. As this was a doubling of the provincial tax it was but fair that the power now enjoyed by municipalities should be withdrawn. It was all done for the benefit of the public, and the government should not be expected to run the department at a loss. In contradiction to a mis-statement made in committee he had two letters—one from the Vancouver Island Underwriters' Association and the other from the Mainland Underwriters' Association—which were by way of guarantee that the companies would reduce their rates, and which stated that where municipalities had an ordinance imposing any tax on fire insurance companies, the companies raised the rates and applied the increase to paying such tax.

Mr. Brewster's amendment was defeated, the division being as follows:

Ayes — Brewster, Hawthornthwaite and Williams—3.

Nays—McBride, Bowser, Young, Taylor, Ross, Ellison, McPhillips, Hunter, Schofield, Jardine, Manson (Skeena), Tisdall, Miller, Jackson, Watson, McDonald, Manson (Comox)—17.

In committee bills were considered validating the incorporation of North Saanich, H. F. W. Behnsen in the chair, and respecting the maintenance of wives deserted by their husbands, Fred Davey in the chair.

Government bills read a third time were those respecting agricultural associations, amending the Land Surveyors' Act, amending the Shops Regulation Act, respecting the taking of land for highway purposes, consolidating the Coal Mines Regulation Act, amending Crown Costs Act and amending the Prince Rupert Incorporation Act. Several new government bills were read a second time. The city of Kamloops is to be granted the site of the old court house for park and municipal purposes.

The House will sit at half-past ten on Monday morning.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Victoria Presbytery.

The half-yearly meeting of the Victoria Presbytery was held in the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The retiring moderator, Rev. Mr. Robertson, of Ladysmith, occupied the chair and opened the meeting. At the election of officers the Rev. Dr. Campbell, pastor of First church, was elected moderator for the term. The reports of the work were very encouraging and the work outlined for the future indicated that more progress than ever before in the history of the Presbytery was being made. The main feature of this meeting of the Presbytery was the discussion on Church Union which took place when the remit from the General Assembly was read asking for the expression of the opinion of the Presbytery on the Basis of Union as agreed upon by the central committee representing the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches. A most animated discussion took place and some excellent addresses, both for and against the Basis of Union were made. When the vote was taken it was found to be a tie, and the moderator, Dr. Campbell, gave his casting vote in favor of union. The next meeting of the Presbytery, the second Tuesday in September, will be held in St. Andrew's church.

First Church.

Sunday Services. — The Rev. Dr. Campbell will preach to-morrow both morning and evening. In the evening he will preach the first of a series of sermons on the Bible. This series is to be given in recognition of the tercentennary of the King James version of the Bible. The sermon on Sunday evening will deal with the different versions of the Bible. The series will prove of great interest.

Ladies' Meeting.—The members of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Woman's Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. J. G. Brown, corner of Fernwood road and Fort street, on Wednesday afternoon next.

St. Andrew's.

Booth Meetings.—The final meetings of the evangelistic services conducted by Herbert Booth will be held to-morrow and Monday. The evangelist will conduct three services, in the morning at 11, evening at 7.30, and in the afternoon he will address a mass meeting on the subject, "Christ and Social Problems." On Monday evening the famous bioscope lecture on "The Early Christians" will be given. The story of the early Christians and their persecutions is told by means of 200 life-model slides and 1,500 feet of animated pictures. These pictures were made under Mr. Booth's own direction from dramatic tableaux and living models, and he holds the original and only production in the world. The lecture is arousing intense interest and the church will be crowded for the event. The meetings throughout the past week have been well attended and the afternoon talks on "The Laws of the Spiritual Life" have proved exceedingly helpful. The evening meetings have been truly evangelistic in character.

St. Paul's.

Y. P. S.—The monthly social gathering of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Peat and a very happy time was spent by all present. Music and games occupied the attention of the young people and refreshments were served at the close. The kindness of Mrs. Peat in opening her home for the occasion was most appreciated.

Visiting Preacher. — The Rev. Mr. Burch of Westminster Hall, Vancouver, will preach to-morrow morning in St. Paul's church.

Knox.

Y. P. S.—The regular meeting of the Young People's Society will be held at the church on Monday evening at 8.15 p. m. This meeting will take the form of a box social. A good programme has been arranged and a very cordial invitation is extended to all friends and neighbors of the congregation to be present.

Ladies' Aid.—On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. McCoy entertained the ladies of the congregation at a "thimble tea." A very enjoyable afternoon was spent and a collection of something over $8 taken up for the Ladies' Aid Society.

Mr. Roberts will be in the vestry of the church each afternoon from 2.30 to 5 o'clock, where he may be seen by any who desire his services.

Temple of Fame.—The members of the Young Ladies' Club are sparing no effort to ensure the success of their interesting dramatic entertainment to be given next Wednesday evening in the Victoria theatre. The production is a most interesting one and is also of educational value. Those who are taking part have been thoroughly trained and are confident of making a success of the evening's work. The advance sale of tickets is very encouraging and it is expected that every seat will be taken.

Prayer Service.—The regular prayer service will be resumed next Thursday evening. Last Thursday the meeting was withdrawn in order to allow members of the congregation to attend the Booth meetings in St. Andrew's church.

Mission Band. — The Boys' Mission band met at the home of F. W. Davey, South Turner street, last evening. The band is growing in interest and the boys are taking good part in the meetin.

Sidney.

Valentine Social.—On the evening of February 14, the Young Women's Sunshine Club of the Methodist church, Sidney, gave a valentine supper and concert. The hall was appropriately and tastefully decorated with flags and bunting. An excellent supper was served under the direction of the refreshment committee, of which Mrs. Hastings was convener. The supper was followed by a programme considered to be one of the best given in Sidney, and for which the programme committee and Miss E. Roberts, convener, deserve much credit. Part one consisted of instrumental music, solos, quartettes, recitations and fancy marching. There was a wand drill by twelve girls in costume, given under the direction of Mrs. Hastings. Part two consisted of a humorous sketch entitled, "The Wrong Flat," presented by several of the young people. This was greatly enjoyed by all. At the request of the members the honorary president, Mrs. H. S. Hastings, occupied the chair and proved herself a graceful and efficient presiding officer. The building was crowded for this first effort of the Young Women's Club.

CONGREGATIONAL.

Boy Scouts.—R. Pomfret commenced a series of lessons in life-saving work and first-aid to the injured to the boys of Troop 7, last Wednesday evening. The boys were eager to learn and are greatly interested in this phase of the Scout's work.

Church Meetings.—On Wednesday evening next there will be a meeting of the Finance board of the church and on Thursday next an important business meeting of the congregation will be held. It is hoped that every member will endeavor to keep this night clear for the meeting.

BAPTIST.

Emmanuel.

First Church.

Young People's Service.—To-morrow evening the regular monthly service for young people will be conducted by the pastor, who will preach on the subject, "Woman and Her Problems—Does Modern Civilization Produce the Highest Type of Womanhood." There will be special music by the choir, as given in the church column of this issue. At the close of the service there will be a reception to strangers and young people away from home.

Lecture by Dr. Hands.—Those who attended the young people's meeting last Monday listened with interest as Dr. Hands of the Carnegie library, spoke of Charles Dickens and his times and work. Added interest was given as Dr. Hands is one who had personally seen Charles Dickens in life.

Debate.—An interesting debate on the subject of missions will be the programme at the young people's meeting on Monday evening. The leaders have been hard at work preparing their respective sides and a profitable meeting is assured all who attend.

Sunday School Convention.—On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the Victoria District Sunday School association will meet in convention in First church building. Many interesting topics are set for discussion and powerful speakers will address the convention.

The Sunday School.—The work of the Sunday school is commencing to expand. A new class for adults has been inaugurated. The Philathea class for ladies and Baraca class for men are actively engaged in endeavoring to increase their membership. In a few weeks' time it is planned to re-classify the school and thus enable all workers therein to accomplish their desired aim with the scholars.

Music.—The musical portion of the church services are showing considerable improvement under the direction and with the assistance of Miss E. Cocker and H. Shandley. A number of new voices have been associated with the choir and the congregational singing is becoming stronger and more enjoyable week by week.

DIES SUDDENLY.

Fernie, Feb. 24.—P. D. Shantz, traveller for J. Y. Griffin & Co., Edmonton, died in Fernie hospital. Mr. Shantz had been ill with a slight attack of pneumonia but was doing nicely and expected to be about again in a few days. Just a few minutes before he died, a nurse was speaking with him and he was particularly bright and cheerful. When she returned shortly afterward he had passed away.

The young man's parents reside at Didsbury, Alta.

The late P. D. Shantz was 24 years of age.

GOLD FINDS NEAR YALE.

Merritt, Feb. 24.—There promises to be a real mining excitement at Yale this Spring. The old town has seen so many stirring days that was once the centre of the greatest gold rush that ever interested the Northwest is soon to take on new life after years of quiet.

Valuable discoveries of gold have been made up Siwash Creek and plans are now in the making for promoting development work on an elaborate scale. Close on to one hundred claims have been staked.

The Cost of Food

In the Capitol at Washington and in nearly every state in the Union, investigations are going on as to the reason for the increasing cost of living. Food expense has become a serious problem in many families, and a nation-wide protest is being made against the present range of food prices.

We have not hitherto featured the economy of simply because it has so many other qualities to recommend it. But in view of the present situation we urge upon every family to begin the use of Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate. It will prove a delightful surprise to those who have never tasted this delicious beverage, and its use will materially lower the cost of the family food, because it is the most nutritive and satisfying of all foods.

Ghirardelli's

Try it to-day. You will feel better, you will be stronger and you will need less of other foods.

No investigation of the price of Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate will be made, for its retail price has remained the same for twenty years.

INDIAN CLAIMS AS FRIENDS SEE THEM

Conference Publishes Recent Correspondence With Premier McBride

The following correspondence is made public by the "Conference of Friends of the Indians of British Columbia":—

Prime Minister's Office,
Victoria, B. C.,
Dec. 23rd, 1910.

The Right Reverend, the Bishop of Columbia,
Bishopsclose, Victoria, B. C.

Dear Bishop Perrin:—With respect to the representations made to the Provincial government by "The Friends of the Indians of British Columbia," at the meeting on December 14th, I beg to state that the government has determined that there is no issue with regard to Indian title to lands such as is sought to be raised by your association and that there is therefore no such question to be adjudicated upon by the courts.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) RICHARD McBRIDE.

Bishopsclose, Victoria, B. C.
20th February, 1911.

Hon. Richard McBride, K. C.,
Premier, Parliament Buildings,
Victoria, B. C.

Dear Mr. McBride:—On behalf of "The Conference of Friends of the Indians of British Columbia," and under resolution of that Conference, I beg to reply to your letter of 23rd December last as follows:—

1. The Indian tribes have always claimed an interest in unsurrendered lands.

2. Until the year 1870, the Indian claim was admitted by both Imperial and Colonial authorities.

3. In that year, the Colonial government receded from its former position and denied the Indians' claim.

4. In the year 1887 the Indians' claim was formally urged and became the subject of discussion between representatives of northern tribes and the government of the province.

5. Subsequently from time to time the Indians made efforts to secure the recognition of their claim, and in the year 1906 three Indian chiefs, accompanied by an interpreter, went to England and had an interview with his late Majesty King Edward upon the subject of the land question.

6. The issue was in the year 1909 brought to the front by an Indian movement, and about twenty of the principal tribes formed a provincial organization for the assertion of their claim.

7. During the year 1909 and the early part of the year 1910, the organized Indian tribes of the province presented their claim formally to the Imperial government and the government of Canada.

8. The issue had been clearly defined for forty years and had been again brought to the front and placed before the Imperial and Canadian governments when, in the month of March last, this conference was formed for the purpose of securing a just and advantageous solution of the problem thereby presented.

9. These statements are based upon official and historical records and other reliable evidence in possession of the conference, conclusively proving such statements to be correct.

10. In the opinion of this conference, it is in the best interests not only of the Indians, but of all the people of the province, that this long-standing issue should be determined at the earliest possible moment.

11. The conference therefore expresses the earnest hope that the government of this province will ultimately decide to facilitate such determination and the speedy settlement of all matters of difference and thus establish in this part of his Majesty's Dominions that policy of justice and conciliation towards native races, which has been one of the glories of the British crown.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) W. W. COLUMBIA,
Chairman.

MACHINE MAN INJURED.

Nelson, Feb. 24.—A serious accident occurred in St. Eugene mine, Moyie, by which Andrew Ostrum, who is a machine man, struck what must have been a miss-fire, exploding it. He was dreadfully mutilated. A special train conveyed him to a hospital.

WHAT HAS DANDRUFF GOT TO DO WITH BALDNESS?

You see the statement every day that the one cause of baldness is dandruff. But is it?

True, dandruff often precedes the departure of the hair.

It is equally true that you know men with a shock of hair you can hardly pull a comb through, who have carried around a dandruff laden collar as long as you have known them.

You have also seen men whose scalp was kept as clean as a baby's whose hair was surely departing.

That dandruff talk sounds well and convinces a good many of us, but let us not fool ourselves.

Of course dandruff isn't a good thing to carry around, but it is only an indication.

The same trouble that causes the hair to fall out usually causes dandruff, so if you get at the cause and arrest the loss of hair, you will stop dandruff too.

Those who use Nyal's Hirsutone find it the most satisfactory hair healer and hair dressing they have ever used.

It does stop the hair from falling out.

It will also stop dandruff.

Your Nyal Druggist cheerfully recommends it—$1 and 50c in sprinkler bottles.

BY MRS. A. T. ASHMORE.

MAN, mere man, exclaims against the present extravagance in dress—extravagance from the man's point of view. In the same breath he is loud in his praises of the charmingly dainty and simple—simple from the man's point of view—tea gowns, négligées and matinees that are so becoming and effective.

Tea gowns are every whit as expensive and intricate in design as ball gowns, which, in fact, they often resemble most closely, but there are many grades and styles, while under the name of tea gown is included the elaborate négligée of lace chiffon or lingerie, one of the most fascinating and effective gowns that is included in the fashionable wardrobe. In olden days this garment would have been considered in the light of a "wrapper," and consequently suitable only for wear in the bedroom. Times have changed most materially in all matters pertaining to dress, and the present styles are all more or less, principally more, on the négligée order, so that these gowns seem quite in order for afternoon and evening wear in one's own home. They are the expression of a luxurious taste, a love for the beautiful in materials as well as workmanship, and while they can be copied in much less costly fabrics and at a third of the original price asked, or, to speak more correctly, demanded the original models, are not to be included in any strictly economical point of view as regards a trousseau. At the same time it is certain that any and all tea gowns and négligée garments save the expensive afternoon and evening gowns immensely, for constant daily home wear is always hard on any gown.

Cloth Gown With Embroidered Band.

Tan Cloth Gown.

The amount of embroidery and the price of the material generally determines the cost of the négligée tea gown, but of course there are the absolutely plain models for which the price is given on account of the perfection of design and line, the grention of some trained expert who understands how to make an apparently shapeless garment worn by an apparently shapeless woman produce an effect of slenderness and grace.

White is the favorite color, but this year it is considered smart to have a colored lining or some color introduced in the embroidery or trimming; this may be only in the girdle, which plays such an important part in woman's dress to-day, but the note is sufficiently strong to be most distinctive, the girdle, so called, being a wide band that is placed above the natural waist line and from which the material of the gown hangs straight. The wide bands of jewelled passementerie are well adapted to this purpose, and the designs are in endless variety. The color scheme is often charming. A gown of sheer white net, a voile over a pale pink or mauve lining, will have a girdle of gold passementerie with amethysts, the coloring of the stones blending with the color of the lining. An all white gown with silver and turquoise passementerie is another variation that is most effective and dainty. Then if a deeper note of color is desired the pale pink, mauve or blue voile de soie is used and the band is of gold or silver. White lace gowns are most effective, and the open mesh lace is extremely fashionable at the moment. It is combined with silk voile or chiffon in a most clever manner, so that at first glance it is almost impossible to tell that it is not all in one piece. To add to the expense and also to the coloring, embroidery over the lace is in fashion; this embroidery is in color worked in silk and in elaborate open design. It is not necessary in any way to the finish and yet is novel and rather striking.

The loose coat style is the best suited to these embroidered effects, the embroidery being around the bottom of the coat and on the fronts, the gown itself being trimmed with bands of lace. Two, and even three, kinds of lace are often used together combined with the voile, chiffon or net, and the combination works out well in almost every instance; the heavier lace in bands is also combined with a much lighter all over lace, and this also works out well. Sleeves are most carefully considered in all smart tea gowns and négligées, and the long floating sleeve is most graceful and becoming. There is no lining and the folds of the material are shaped in most fascinating fashion. The sleeve that falls apart at the shoulder, leaving the entire arm without drapery, is modified by the transparent lace or net close fitting undersleeve that reaches below the elbow, but the classic robes so fashionable at present have the sleeve shaped so that these same folds across the top present the too unveiled appearance, becoming only to a wonderfully perfect arm such as few women are blessed with.

The arrangement of trimming in the lace and net coats has a band of lace that goes across the shoulders and down the back of the sleeves to where they end, well below the elbow, the sleeves loose and wide. This carries out the fashionable sloping shoulder line, which is apparently demanded at the present moment and which is either most becoming or quite the contrary. A fold of satin or silk finishes this style of sleeve, and if there is any color in lining or girdle the fold is of that color; otherwise it is white.

Black and White Striped Voile Gown.

Most fascinating are the white lace gowns, not tea gowns or négligée, but such as will be worn next summer, and first will be seen at the winter resorts. The lace, of open mesh on the Chantilly order, in broad bands combined with net, voile de soie and all thin, light and transparent fabrics, is the most in demand. The favorite models are extremely simple, but very smart. The double skirt style, which provides an opportunity for two bands of the lace, one on the underskirt and one to finish the upper skirt, are more becoming than if the two bands were both on one skirt; then a band down the sides and bands on the waist carry out the fashion becomingly and give better lines. A velvet sash with two velvet ends is the only trimming, and black velvet is smarter than any other color at the moment. The high waist line still prevails in this style of gown, and as it is one of the latest models, it is safe to predict its continuing to be fashionable for the coming season. One thing to be remembered is that it is not impossible to do over a gown with the high waist line by changing the girdle or belt.

Effective Designs for Inexpensive Evening Gowns

EVERY woman now recognizes the necessity for evening gowns, for the wearing of the low cut waist at theatres and restaurants is becoming more and more of a custom, while at all evening entertainments it is as much of a rule as for men to wear dress suits. The fashion is far simpler and easier of accomplishment than is realized. First and foremost, the cut must be right, the waist must not be tight across the bust or below it, and just at the waist line—the normal waist line—can there be any tight lacing. If this is not understood a low cut gown is most unbecoming, as well as immodest. With the lining fitting well, in these days of ready made pattern robes and waists it is a comparatively easy task to find at reasonable price something that will look well made over black or white or colors. There are fancy nets, voile de soie and many materials that are inexpensive that look well in the evening. As for trimmings, there are no end of them to be found now.

It is never sensible to choose too elaborate a model to copy in making up an evening gown, if expense is to be considered, nor is it sensible to spend too much time in detail. What is becoming should first be selected, then what is effective should come next in choice. Colors to be worn in the evening under artificial light require different treatment from those to be worn in the full light of day, so all colors should be chosen by artificial light. With an effectively trimmed waist quite a plain style of skirt can be worn, and this often helps to save many a penny.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"There, isn't that nice? I really believe Myra was pleased with that waist."

The lady who had just received a letter was speaking.

We waited for further explanations. We received them.

"It's from my cousin Myra, you know. You remember I embroidered a waist for her, Christmas. She says 'I have just come back from an afternoon tea where I wore your lovely waist with my velvet suit. Everybody was crazy about the waist. Mrs. Rathbone wanted to know where I got the pattern and Mrs. Loomis says she never saw eyelet work done so beautifully. It is a perfectly lovely waist, dear, and you can't imagine how I enjoy it."

"There," said the lady who had just received a letter, "that makes me feel as if she really did like that waist. Didn't she thank me before? Why, yes, of course she did—wrote me a very pretty Christmas note, but of course she HAD to do that, and this she didn't. This is spontaneous and really means something. Now I'm so glad I made that waist, though it was an awful lot of work."

Does the suggestion appeal to you? Of course you get it?

If you realy want to make people realize that you DID like their Christmas gifts, copy Myra and remember to make some spontaneous mention of them during the year.

Thank notes, however gracefully worded and however genuinely meant, can't carry so much conviction because of their conventionality, as some little spontaneous word like this.

Remember to tell mother occasionally how very much comfort you do take in the kimona she made you.

Remember to tell father to-night that you simply don't see how you got along without that fountain pen.

The next time you write your chum remember to tell her that you wore the jabot she gave you the other day and everybody admired it immensely.

Who hasn't suffered from the difficulty of saying a truly genuine "thank you" at the appropriate moment, no matter how pleased he truly was?

Who hasn't realized the impossibility of making a conventional thank note carry any warm living gratitude, no matter how much he really felt?

Well, then, here is the answer to your difficulties—bring out your gratitude at unexpected moments during the year and it will be much more apt to be recognized as genuine and unforced.

Remember how your mother used to hide away some of the plethora of Christmas sweets and nuts and raisins and bring them out at some later day and how much more you appreciated them then than you did during the distractions and satiety of Christmas?

Well, that's just the way it will be with your unexpected expressions of gratitude.

CURED OF DRINK BY SIMPLE REMEDY

A Devoted Wife Helps Her Husband to a Cure Through Samaria Prescription.

Mrs. S., of Trenton, was in despair. A loving father and a careful provider when sober—her husband had gradually fallen into drinking habits, which were ruining his home, health and happiness. Drink had inflamed his stomach and nerves and created that unnatural craving that kills conscience, love, honor and breaks all family ties.

But read her letter:

"I feel it my duty to say a few words about your Tablets. As you are aware, I sent and got a bottle, thinking I would try them in secret. My husband had only taken them a week when he told me he was going to Port Arthur for the summer, so I had to tell him all about the Tablets. He said he would take them just the same, so I sent and got the second bottle for fear one would not be enough. He writes me saying that he has taken the contents of both bottles, and he feels splendid, does not care for drink. In fact, he has not taken any liquor from the first of my giving it to him. I feel I cannot say too much in favor of your wonderful remedy.

"Mrs. S——, Trenton, Ont."

Samaria Prescription stops the craving for drink. It restores the shaking nerves, improves the appetite and general health, and makes drink distasteful, and even nauseous. It is used regularly by Physicians and Hospitals, and is tasteless and odorless, dissolving instantly in tea, coffee or food.

Now, if you known any home on which the curse of drink has fallen, tell them of Samaria Prescription. If you have a husband, father, brother or friend on whom the habit is getting its hold, help him yourself. Write to-day.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaria Prescription, with booklet, giving full particulars, testimonials, price, etc., will be sent absolutely free and postpaid in plain sealed package to anyone asking for it and mentioning this paper. Correspondence sacredly confidential. Write to-day.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE.

The March number of Scribner's Magazine has a very striking series of pictures in color, entitled "On the Highways of the Sky," from paintings by William Harnden Foster. These show episodes in the aeroplane history of the near future, such as "The Scout Cruiser," "Catching the Limited," etc.

No American writer had a better inside view of the social life of the Confederacy than Mrs. Burton Harrison, who belonged to a prominent Southern family and knew the intimate life of Richmond during the war. Mrs. Harrison begins in this number her "Recollections Grave and Gay," a series of fascinating papers reproducing those stirring times with vivacity and picturesqueness. Price Collier continues his papers on the East with an account of "Religion and Caste in India."

Elmer Roberts explains "German Good-Will Toward Trusts," showing how "Syndicates," as they are called there, are fostered under the protecting arm of the government and permitted to be monopolies under government regulation for the benefit of the whole people.

In the London home of the eminent artist, Alma Tadema, there is a tribute of friendship, "The Hall of Panels," decorated with paintings by the famous artists of England, such as Lord Leighton, Sir Edward Poynter, John S. Sargent, J. R. Weguelin, Val Prinsep, and a host of others. These are reproduced for the first time in an article written with the approval of Alma Tadema.

A picture of the romantic life at "Railhead," on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, is given in a graphic article, "The Makers of the Grade," by one of the participants.

The fiction includes: F. Hopkinson Smith's serial, "Kennedy Square"; a story by E. W. Hornung, the creator of "Raffles," entitled "The Poet of Jumping Sandhills"; "Vain Oblations," by Katherine Fullerton Gerould"; "The Artist," another of Dorothy Canfield's character sketches," and Mrs. Wharton contributes a poem, "Summer Afternoon."

The Field of Art describes with pictures the accepted design for the great monument to General Grant in Washington.

SIMPLE KNIFE CLEANER.

There are all varieties of knife-cleaners from the single stone on which the housewife rubs her cutlery to the elaborate device of multiple wheels used in the big hotels and restaurants. But one of the simplest and most effective of all would seem to be that devised by a California man and shown here. This contrivance consists of a couple of cleaning stones held in juxtaposition in a resilient frame V-shaped wires with springs connecting the three corners of each. This has the effect of keeping the stones close together all the time, but allowing enough leeway for the admission of a knife blade or the tines of a fork, which can be cleaned by being rubbed up and down a few times. The springs will insure a sufficiently strong pressure to give good frictional action at all times.

AWNING ADMITS BREEZE.

Canopy Can Be Moved Around on Frames to Follow Sun.

One objection to awnings is that they exclude a cretain amount of air and there are summer days when people want all the air there is. A Michigan genius has overcome this objection by designing an awning which in addition to keeping out the sun, lets in the breeze. This is accomplished by having the canopy made to cover only half of the window. It is tucked at top and bottom to slide from side to side of the frames. These frames are bowed, the lower one much more so than the upper, thus giving the shade the customary outward slant. With this awning the sun can be followed in its course around the house by moving the shade in its path. This will effectually keep the sunlight out of the room while there will always be space enough around the shade to admit any air that may be stirring. This awning, however, does not afford the same protection from rain that the older type does.

RAILWAY PROPERTY NOT ENDANGERED

Member of Interstate Commission Discusses Decision in Rate Case

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—A member of the interstate commerce commission, who refused to allow his name to be used, discussing the rates decision, said:

"The general sentiment of the commission was that the railroad, the 'interests,' would endeavor to make the decision seem adverse to business, and thus attempt to verify the predictions the railroad men and their counsel made during the rate hearings. The commission has in its possession facts and figures showing the condition of the railroads, their profits, their resources, their present strength and their possibilities.

"The commission has no fear that the railroads' prosperity is endangered. The plain fact is that the railroads did not prove that the proposed increases were necessary and there was undeniable proof that the present tariffs work no hardship upon them. I believe the railroads will prove more successful during the coming year with the existing tariffs. I am convinced that any appeal from the decision of the commission will prove futile."

Lawyer's Views.

Boston, Feb. 24.—Louis D. Brandeis, the lawyer to whose presentation of the shippers' case to the interstate commerce commission is declared to be largely due that tribunal's decision against higher freight rates, to-day ridiculed the assertion that the roads will fight.

(Copyright 1911 by the United States Press, by Louis D. Brandeis.)

I do not believe that the management of any enlightened railroad will fight the decisions against the rate increases after the full and fair hearings before the interstate commerce commission. The question has been considered for six months and all have been given opportunity to argue for and against the proposed rates.

The decisions were based on evidence and the opinion of the commissioners was unanimous. That opinion, so far as it has been given to the public, shows that the subject has been carefully considered and that the decision of the commission was inevitable. I do not believe there is any justification for the slump in the stock market to-day. On the contrary, I think that railroads like the Reading will finally conclude that the decision of the interstate commerce commission will lead them to a brighter future.

It will be remembered that a number of so-called railroad defeats have been but avenues to greater prosperity. It will also be remembered that when the commerce law made conditions more stringent, notwithstanding that the roads had been beaten, the abolition of rebating was really a great step forward. Likewise, the railroads, while they were forced to abolish passes, made a distinct gain without a single disadvantage.

Then the roads were forced by law, after a long contest, to apply safety devices to their cars. All will admit that this reform spelled a great gain in transportation. The roads considered the limitations of their employees' hours of labor a heavy burden, but the most enlightened railroads rejoice now with the community over that step to procure proper and safe conditions.

Nothing has so aroused the American people against the railroads for years as the attempt at raising rates. The decision of the commission undoubtedly will be followed by efforts by enlightened railroad managers to have the roads help themselves. This is bound to result in immense improvements and economies in operation and management. These will secure to the roads the co-operation of the American people.

I do not believe the railroad improvements will be curtailed or that the earnings of the railroads or their employees' will be reduced. On the contrary, railroad prosperity, with greater efficiency, will be placed on a firmer basis and the principles of scientific management as applied to railroads, will be sure to produce, as in other branches of industry, higher wages.

Expert on Decision.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 24.—"A triumph against extortion," was the way William R. Wheeler, manager of the traffic bureau of the merchants' exchange, and recognized as the foremost railway rate expert on the Pacific coast, referred to the interstate commerce commission's decision in refusing to allow the railroads to increase their rates.

"The decision," said Wheeler, "is a glorious victory for the people and for the shipper and consumer, who has to pay the freight. The decision is of particular interest to Californians at this time because the rate question out here is about to be investigated. If the commission had allowed the increase the Pacific coast railroads would have been warranted in increasing their rates, now they have not a leg to stand on. The decision was undoubtedly a fair one."

IMPOVERISHED BLOOD

A Common and a Dangerous Trouble —You Must Enrich the Blood to Escape Danger.

Anaemia is simply a lack of blood. It is one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous diseases with which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls are too frequently allowed to over-study, overwork and suffer from a lack of exercise. It is dangerous because of the stealthiness of its approach, often being well-developed before its presence is recognized, and because of its tendency to grow so steadily worse, if not promptly checked, that it may run into consumption.

The value of the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be known to every mother in the land. These Pills make new, rich blood, tone the organs and nerves, bring a glow of health to pale, sallow cheeks, and drive away the weakness, headaches, faintness, heart palpitation and loss of energy so noticeable in young girls who are suffering from anaemia. To all such Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an actual life saver. Miss Mabel McTavish, Prince Albert, Sask., says: "In my case I can only say that life had lost its magic; all work was a trial, and even pleasure only a task. When I went up a flight of stairs I was ready to drop from sheer weakness, and I had begun to think life would be a continued burden. But all this is now changed, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These were recommended to me, and after taking them for about a month I found my health renewed. I could sleep better, my appetite returned, and I was so strong and well that housework was no longer a burden to me. My sister seemed to be going the same way last summer and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were at once sent for and two boxes made her as well as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are now the prized medicine in our home, and doctor bills have been fewer since we discovered the virtues of this great medicine."

Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEFEAT.

French Government Has Majority of Only Sixteen on Vote of Confidence.

Paris, Feb. 25.—Premier Briand and his cabinet were severely attacked in the Chamber of Deputies last night by the Radical Socialists, Louis Malvey and Paul Meunier. They accused M. Briand of clericalism, charging that he had not applied sufficient severity to the religious congregations law.

Premier Briand asked for the confidence of the chamber, which was voted but by a majority of only sixteen. The day in the chamber was exciting.

M. Malvey claimed that the congregations law was a dead letter. It forbade religious orders in France, without authorization he claimed, but there was at least as many monks now as formerly, who were organizing throughout the land a powerful Catholic party to assure the success of the enterprises. When prosecutions are instituted, the speaker continued, the courts usually acquit the accused, or more rarely, inflict punishment insignificant fines.

M. Briand replied that the congregations had been deeply rooted in France for centuries and could not be eradicated in a few months. It was inevitable that they would do all in their power to reconstitute themselves. Nobody, the premier said, had a right to reproach the government for blanching before these difficulties or failing in its duty. If the majority was unable to give the government its full and entire confidence, let them seize the occasion to say so, for the government could not continue its task if undermined by petty intrigues.

MUST SURRENDER STUDENT.

Court of Arbitration's Decision in Case of Damodar Savarkar.

The Hague, Feb. 25.—The permanent court of arbitration yesterday decided that Great Britain was bound to surrender Vinayak Damodar Savarkar, the Indian law student, to the French government.

The man escaped to French soil when the vessel on which he was being returned to India for trial following his arrest in London, stopped in the harbor of Marseilles. He was arrested by the police and turned over to the British detectives. The matter of the rights of asylum for a political refugee was raised, and the question of whether the prisoner should be returned to the French government was submitted to arbitration as the result of an agitation begun by French Socialists, who asserted that the Indian student was improperly surrendered to the British officers after he had set foot on French soil and appealed for refuge as a political prisoner.

Savarkar is an Indian subject of Great Britain and was arrested on his arrival in London, March 13, 1910, charged with sedition. The court ordered his return to India for trial. After his escape at Marseilles and his recapture Savarkar was taken to India, where he was tried and twice sentenced to transportation for life, once for conspiracy to subvert British rule in India and subsequently for complicity in the murder of Arthur T. M. Jackson, chief magistrate of Naski, who was killed in December, 1909.

Had the tribunal decided that Savarkar should be returned to France on the ground that his first offence was political, Great Britain would quite likely have appealed to the French government for his extradition as a convicted murderer, though the fact that he was not convicted until after his escape and recapture might have made this move unsuccessful.

VISITED THE KING IN HIS AEROPLANE

Thomas Sopwith, in English-Made Machine, Flies to Windsor

Thomas Sopwith, the young aviator—he is twenty-two—who won the De Forest prize of $20,000 by flying from Dover to Belgium in December, visited the King by aeroplane at Windsor Castle recently.

He travelled by his Majesty's invitation from Brooklands, circled the Round tower of the castle, to the great delight of the royal princes, and then alighted on the green of the royal golf links in the presence of his Majesty. Afterwards he was entertained to tea by the Queen.

Describing his flight, Mr. Sopwith said that when he left Brooklands at 1 o'clock there was such a keen frost that the water froze in the tubes of the radiator as they were being filled. He realized that this might burst them, but he decided to take the risk if the weather were good enough. That was doubtful. Brooklands was enveloped in a thick fog, and if Mr. Sopwith got away he might lose his direction. However, upon ringing up Windsor he learnt that it was clear and bright there, and at a place half-way between Brooklands and Datchet the fog was slight. If once he could steer a straight course from Brooklands he would fly into a clear atmosphere.

"I resolved to get away," said Mr. Sopwith, "and exactly at 1 o'clock I got into the saddle and took the lever."

When his Howard-Wright machine had risen to a height of about 50 feet he could see nothing whatever around him or below him for the fog. But the 60 horse-power engine was working splendidly, and he went at a great pace. As he flew he rose higher and higher, until he reached an altitude of 1,000 feet.

Half-way upon his journey the fog was left behind, and he rode with the sunlight upon his planes. It was bitterly cold, but his engine had now warmed up to its work. It was twenty minutes after leaving Brooklands that Mr. Sopwith flew over Datchet. Here there were 1,500 people waiting for him, among them his sister and brother-in-law. Cheers went up as he circled round and came gently and safely to earth on the golf links, where his broken radiator made a puddle on the ground.

It had been intimated to this plucky young aviator that if he flew over to Windsor the King would be glad to see him. Though not a royal command, it was a gracious invitation, and naturally Mr. Sopwith was anxious to avail himself of the honor. He rose again from the Datchet fields at 2.55 p.m., and covered the one and a half miles to Windsor in a few minutes.

The old castle was a noble landmark. He flew high now, and in the direction of the east terrace, and then swept round in a broad half-circle, passing over the northern terrace, where groups of people were gathered, and above the Round tower, where the Royal Standard was waving. Then, circling round, he poised above the gardens and planed down until he alighted just before the east terrace.

The King, with the three young princes, Henry, George and John, and various officers of the household, were out in the grounds and watched Mr. Sopwith's flight and his descent with the keenest interest.

Sir Charles Cust presented the young aviator to his Majesty, who shook hands with him, and congratulated him heartily on his performance. The King, accompanied by his small boys, then walked round the biplane, examining it closely and in detail, and asking many questions about its power and capabilities. He was especially interested in the E. N. V. engine, for the King, as a sailor, has a good technical knowledge of engineering. He pointed out to the aviator that his radiator was leaking. "Yes, your Majesty," said Mr. Sopwith. "That is due to the frost." The King was pleased to hear that it was an English-built machine, and hoped that this country would make good progress in aviation.

Mr. and Mrs. Paikes, the sister and brother-in-law of the young aviator; Miss May Sopwith, another sister, were also presented to the King, and, with the hero of the afternoon were entertained to tea at the castle.

It is interesting to recall that apart from Mr. Grahame-White's flight over the British fleet, his Majesty has not previously had the opportunity of seeing an aeroplane manoeuvering in the air. It is also the first time that an aeroplane has cast its swift shadow over the ancient walls of Windsor.

ESTABLISHING CAMPS IN THE MOUNTAINS

Grand Trunk Pacific Contractors Preparing to Rush Work This Season

Prince Rupert, Feb. 21.—From the end of the steel the contractors and sub-contractors in the G. T. P. are reported to have spent the winter very busily getting in supplies and already are at work upon construction almost as far west as Tete Juan Cache.

It is the expectation of Messrs. Foley, Welch and Stewart to complete their contract to Tete Juan Cache before the end of the season, and with this end in view are already commencing to ship outfits and men west, to the camps that they have established in the mountains. For the season's work they will require over 3,000 men.

Practically all of the construction that is to be done on the Grand Trunk Pacific this season west of Edmonton, will be rock work, and will require an immense amount of ballasting. Two tunnels of fair length will be required in the mountains, and work on these is also to proceed this summer. It is the opinion of the contractors that construction through the Yellowhead will be comparatively easy.

A great deal of construction can be done in the mountains during the remaining winter months.

The main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific will be completed as far as Tete Juan Cache, 47 miles west of the Yellowhead Pass, by the end of this season. That is the statement of the various contractors and sub-contractors.

From Tete Juan Cache westward the contractors will be able to utilize the waterways in the carrying of supplies, so that after the work of next summer is completed from the west and the east the work will be simplified and can be rushed forward.

WARNINGS UNHEEDED.

Verdict of Coroner's Jury Which Investigated Cycling Fatality.

Vancouver, Feb. 24.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of Rafala Tonello, who died from injuries received in a bicycle accident last Saturday afternoon in Stanley Park had no difficulty at arriving at a verdict. The testimony of Robert Miller and other witnesses clearly established the fact that the accident was due to the deceased riding down a steep hill on the wrong side of the road.

Miller was teaming a road roller through the park, and had just reached the place where he was to leave it, alongside some crushed stone bins on the right hand side of the road. Suddenly a bicyclist shot past the roller, he heard a yell, and then another bicyclist closely following the first, and seemingly without control of his wheel, ran headon into the bins. At the scream the first man and Miller rushed to the aid of the injured cyclist, who did not appear to be badly hurt and was able to talk, despite the frightful injuries that the examination in the hospital revealed later.

Botteselli Enginio, the companion of the injured man, said that they had been riding through the park, and on reaching the fatal hill, down which they went at a fast rate of speed, thought they would be unable to go down the proper side of the road. He managed to get by the roller all right, and expected the other man would be able to follow. With great feeling the witness told of hearing his chum's cry, and upon turning to see the unfortunate man prostrate on the ground.

After a few minutes' deliberation the jury came to the conclusion that death was the result of an accident, unavoidable by the teamsters, who were in no way to blame. According to the evidence they found that deceased was riding on the wrong side of the road.

The park is plentifully placarded with signs warning bicyclists of dangerous sections. The evidence, too, brought out the fact that there were thirty feet or more of clear space on the proper side of the road for them to pass.

MAY BUILD NEW LINES.

New Westminster, Feb. 24.—That the B. C. Electric Railway Company will spend a considerable amount of money in this city this summer is now quite probable, as a result of a conference between the city council and the officials of the railway company.

Another carline will probably be built in the city, the line down Lulu Island is now under construction and Mr. Glover, assistant manager of the B. C. Electric, promised that work on the line to Millside would be commenced as soon as possible.

Another proposal which was discussed at the conference was the question of the city getting a percentage of the gross receipts, as is the case in Vancouver. This was objected to by Mr. Glover, as he said the lines in Westminster were not yet paying. After some discussion, it was proposed that the company be given five years in which to make the line pay, after which the city would expect a percentage.

The question of the clause providing for a terminating franchise was also discussed. The council were in favor of granting a franchise for 25 years, at the end of which time the city would have the option of purchasing the company's lines. Mr. Glover objected to this also, claiming that the company would operate the line through all the lean years and just at a time when the line would begin to make some returns the city would want to take it over. The council then decided to allow five years in which to make the line pay, and the franchise to expire twenty-five years after that.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE.

Hedley, Feb. 24.—An accident occurred in the Nickel Plate mine a few days ago, which injured two men but proved almost a miraculous escape for five men. The injured men were Harry Sweet and Danny McEachern, although the latter was able to go to work again a few days after.

Some time ago when Sweet and McEachern were working together they put in a round of four holes and on firing them heard what they took to be four reports although one was so very light that they suspected it was not a genuine shot and would likely prove to be a missed hole. The place was left for a few days and they were sent to work elsewhere, but on this occasion they went back to investigate and clear away for another round. Throwing back the muck and looking for the missed hole McEachern was handling a shovel and Sweet had a pick. Having drilled the former round themselves they had a good idea of where the missed hole would be found and Sweet was raking the muck towards him, evidently counting on a greater depth of debris over the hole than there was. The point of the pick detached about half a stick of powder which travelled with the surrounding muck about four or five feet from the place it had rested and on striking a piece of rock it went off about half way between them. Sweet having his face turned towards the point got his face peppered and it was thought at first that his eyesight was gone. McEachern had his back towards the spot and while he may have got more of the flying stones than his partner his wounds were not so likely to be attended with bad results. The doctor was summoned from Hedley and had Sweet brought down to the hospital, where he is making satisfactory recovery.

Just before the explosion occurred J. Simpson and two others came up, and as the piece of powder which went off happened to be the top of a heavily loaded hole it was most fortunate that all did not go off together as soon as the pick struck it or otherwise it would have been almost certain to have killed all five men within reach of it.

KELOWNA BOARD OF TRADE.

Kelowna, Feb. 24.—At the annual meeting of the board of trade J. W. Jones was unanimously elected president and R. B. Kerr vice-president. The following were chosen as members of the executive council, without ballot: Messrs P. DuMoulin, W. A. Pitcairn W. Haug, H. W. Raymer, D. W. Sutherland, D. Leckie, Jas. Harvey, sr., and B. NANAIMO POULTRY SOCIETY TO BUILD

Site Has Been Secured and Exhibition Buildings Will Be Erected

Nanaimo, Feb. 24.—At a meeting of the Nanaimo Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock society it was decided to purchase a piece of land on Selby street, a portion of the Pawson estate, situated next the Princess Rink. It was also decided to erect exhibition buildings, and an effort will be made to have them ready for the next exhibition of the society. While the plans of the proposed structure have not been definitely settled, the general plans have been agreed upon, it being the intention to erect commodious quarters with a glass roof which will furnish plenty of light, a necessary quantity for show purposes.

The society is to be commended on its decision to launch out and secure permanent quarters.

Hitherto the Poultry show has been driven from pillar to post as it were each year, seldom being able to secure suitable quarters in which to hold an exhibition, and the expense incurred in fixing up new quarters each year has been a heavy drain on the show receipts. With the erection of permanent quarters, the first expense, though heavy, will practically be the last, and the yearly drain made necessary by having to tear down after each show, will be eliminated. The new exhibition building will be centrally located, one of the best locations available in the city.

PRINCE RUPERT HOSPITAL.

Prince Rupert, Feb. 21.—The board of directors of the hospital met in the hospital and made an appointment of a permanent managing secretary who will perform the duties of a house steward for the institution. The decision fell upon W. Wright, who has been a resident of the city for a considerable time. The new appointee will enter upon his duties as soon as the board deems it wise that he should do so.

The Houston memorial committee reported that there was now $604 subscribed. It was felt that there would before the lists closed be $750 available for the purpose. The committee expressed a desire to furnish the operating ward throughout. In view of the statement made by the ladies of the auxiliary that they had the supplies for all the wards it was agreed that the memorial committee should take over the necessary equipment from the ladies for this ward, paying for it and thus giving the auxiliary that much more for other necessary work. Any other equipment for the ward that was necessary to equip it in first-class shape, it was decided would be paid for out of the funds of the committee, the whole expenditure being subject to approval of the board. The funds available indicate that the ward can be furnished in first-class shape by the committee.

Both had been married three times. Hennin is the oldest surviving post-boy in England. He picked up Queen Victoria, then a child, when she fell on the sands at Weymouth.

OUR LETTER BOX

AN INTERESTING POINT.

To the Editor:—I have been deeply interested, on reading Mr. Justice Gregory's decision re the validity of the municipal elections, and can only exclaim with the western American, "Where are we at, anyhow?"

Three years ago I bought a home in this city, making a substantial cash payment on same, and was given an agreement of sale by the vendor, said agreement containing a clause prohibiting me from registering or recording it. I was duly assessed as the owner of said property and for three years have paid all taxes on same into the city treasury, and, when local improvements were mooted, agreed cheerfully to liquidate my share of a further heavy contribution to the funds of the city. Now, Mr. Editor, I am anxious to know as per the recent interpretation of the law, if I would or would not be entitled to have a vote or voice in the government of the city and expenditure of the city's funds. If I cannot vote on that property, who can?

The same applies to city lots. Should the man who buys on sale agreement and does not register same, yet pays into the city funds, land, sewer, schools, local improvement, and other taxes, and in other ways is publicly and privately the acknowledged owner of such a lot or lots, have a voice in the control of the affairs of the city he helps to support with his hard earned money?

I think this question is interesting, and if you, or some of your readers can enlighten my darkness of comprehension I will be grateful.

W. M. RITCHIE.

EVADING THE POINT.

To the Editor:—In reference to my letter which appeared in last night's issue of your paper, the Colonist this morning is amazed at my temerity in asking a question regarding statements made by the premier at the last provincial election.

The statement that although Montreal is the official terminus of the C. P. R, lines go to St. John, Quebec and Toronto, does not explain away the promise made by Mr. McBride, as the editor of the Colonist will admit that it is not the same train that goes to any one of the points mentioned.

We were told before the election that the Canadian Northern train from the East would come right through to English Bluff and after crossing the gulf on a ferry would continue its journey to Barkley Sound and the main terminus would be at that point. In view of other announcements now appearing in Vancouver and New Westminster papers, can the Colonist tell us if the promises made to the people on Vancouver Island are to be carried out?

ONE WHO WOULD LIKE TO KNOW.
Victoria, B. C., Feb. 25th, 1911.

Are You Going to Get Your Share of the Big Business Coming This Way?

To the Business Men of Victoria:---

VICTORIA is going to be a large city, and it is not going to be very long before every business man will be anxious to get a share of the big business which is now beginning. We are all going to be busy. First of all, you must have something that will attract attention to your place of business. The best and cheapest advertisement you can get is to have us furnish your office—by doing so you can't help but have customers. There is no getting away from it, that the man who has a nicely furnished office does the business. People come back to him, it is a pleasure to them to gigve him a call. A man who has a well furnished office and has desks nice and roomy, where he can file his correspondence, etc., instead of leaving it all over the place in a mass of untidiness, is the man who people can see at a glance has got the system and business ability. In conclusion we would ask you to give us a call and inspect the largest variety of office furniture that has ever been shown in this city. Desks of the latest designs, all of which are attractive, at prices that are exceptionally reasonable. IF YOU WANT TO DO THE BUSINESS, PAY US A VISIT—WE HAVE THE GOODS THAT WILL SUIT YOU. COME IN TO-DAY.

AIRSHIPS FOR FRENCH MANOEUVRES

Twenty-Three Aeroplanes and Fourteen Dirigibles Will Take Part

Paris, Feb. 25.—Each manned by two or more army officers, France will have 23 military aeroplanes in the next manoeuvres, according to announcement by the government. There will also be employed 14 dirigibles with crews of from two in the speedy scouts to eight in the big bomb hurlers.

France's air division now has depots at Versailles, Rheims, Chalons, Sur Marne and Vincenes, and the German frontier is thoroughly covered by aeroplane scouts.

NEW FISHING COMPANY MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR A GOOD FISHING SEASON.

The Pacific Northwest Fisheries, Limited, are busy making preparations for the coming season's work, which will last from the middle of March to December. This new company is backed by local capital. Capt. Jno. Irving, president; F. E. Mitchell, vice-president; H. O. Mills, secretary, with Geo. A. Fraser, H. O. Kirkham and C. R. Serjeantson as directors.

The company expects to start work on the erection of buildings, wharves, etc., in a few days at their location.

It is a well-known fact that the supply of fish, both cured and fresh, is at the present insufficient for the demand, so that this new venture should prove a paying proposition right from the start.

On another page the advertisement of the company will be found, which offers the public at large a splendid opportunity to invest in one of Canada's best industries. Head offices of the company are situated at 1214 Government street, Victoria.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian, west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of the lowest low water in each month of the year. This level is half a foot lower than the datum to which the soundings on the Admiralty chart of Victoria harbor are reduced.
